Area Man, Ashville Woman Killed in Triple Fatal Crash

A Circleville area man and an Ashville woman were killed following a single car accident at 6:02 p. m. yesterday near Amanda which was fatal to all three occupants.

The two area persons killed were Arthur Ray Westenberg, Route 4, Circleville, and Mrs. Caroline R. Carley, 32, of Ashville. The third victim was 1-C John J. Kuklar, 24, of Carmichael, Pa., stationed at Lockbourne Air Force Base.

Westenberg died at 7:15 p. m. Mrs. Carley died 45 minutes later. According to investigating officers, both suffered massive injuries. The accident was on Route 22 about one mile west of Amanda in Fairfield County. It was reported as the most severe highway tragedy in Fairfield County in 11 years.

FAIRFIELD Sheriff's Deputies said Airman Kuklar was dead at the scene of the accident.

Identity of the driver could not be immediately determined, although investigating officials indicated it was Mrs. Carley or Westenberg.

Deputies said the car, apparently traveling at a fast rate of speed for the road conditions, crashed into a tree after the driver missed a curve. Officers said the auto was demolished.

Westenberg was born Dec. 10, 1925, in Walnut Twp., the son of Raymond and Bertha George Westenberg of Circleville. The parents with whom he lived, survive.

He is also survived by two sisters: Mrs. Margie Brown of Circleville and Mrs. Martha Danner of Stoutsville.

He was a veteran of World War II.

SERVICES will be 2 p. m. Friday in the Denbaugh Funeral Home, with the Rev. O. F. Gibbs officiating. Burial will be in the Jackson Twp. Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 2 p. m. Thursday. Mrs. Carley was born Jan. 29, 1930, in Jackson, the daughter of Charles and Linda Cronk. The mother survives.

Other survivors are the husband, Airman 1-C Ralph N. Carley, stationed at Lockbourne, two daughters, Lynn and Kathy, and one brother, Charles Cronk Jr.

Services will be 1:30 p. m. Thursday in the Bastian Funeral Home Ashville, with the Rev. John Morgan officiating. Burial will be in Harrison Twp. Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 7:30 p. m. today.

KUKLAR lived at a trailer camp on the air base. Surviving are his wife, Madeline; one daughter, Diane, 3; one son, John Patrick, 2; and the victim's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Kuklar of Carmichael.

Kuklar was a member of the 801st Combat Defense Squadron at Lockbourne. Funeral arrangements are being completed.

Saigon Palace Is Bombed by Rebel Pilots

South Viet Nam Chief Unhurt, Maintains Control of Country

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Two South Vietnamese air force fighter-bombers bombed, rocketed and strafed Saigon's presidential palace today in an unsuccessful attempt to kill President Ngo Dinh Diem or members of his family who exert a strong influence on his government.

Two hours after the attack—which left one wing of the Independence Palace in smoldering ruins—the 61-year-old anti-Communist president broadcast over Radio Saigon that "thanks to divine protection I myself and my close collaborators were not in danger."

By his close collaborators Diem meant his brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, and Nhu's wife, who acts as first lady for the bachelor president. Critics have repeatedly accused all three of running the government as a family dictatorship.

The Nhus lived in the wing of the palace which was bombed out. A palace source reported that Mrs. Nhu was injured slightly on one arm. Also in the palace, the source said, was another brother of Diem, Roman Catholic Archbishop Ngo Dinh Thuc, who had come to Saigon from his residence in Hue for medical treatment.

Diem was the target of a short-lived uprising by five paratrooper battalions 15 months ago, but today's air attack appeared to be an independent, isolated assault by a few anti-Diem pilots rather than a large-scale plot against the U.S.-supported regime. There was no move to follow up the air attack on the ground and no reports of rebellion by government forces elsewhere in the country.

Diem said loyal armed forces had the situation "completely under control throughout the national territory."

A government radio newscast said one of the attacking planes—identified as AD6 Skyraiders—supplied South Viet Nam's air force by the United States was shot down near the coast and its officer pilot was captured. Military sources in Saigon said two U.S. F-4 Phantom II fighters shot the plane down.

Casualties from the attack on the palace were not known immediately, but several wounded palace guards were loaded into ambulances.

(L. Washington, U. S. officials said first reports listed one dead and two hurt in the air assault on the cream and yellow palace. They said none of the 4,000 American military personnel and civilians in South Viet Nam were involved.)

Nehru Party Holds Bulge In India Poll

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru's Congress party maintained its overwhelming lead today in returns from the Indian elections but the Communists and regional parties with separatist ambitions showed strength in districts scattered across the nation.

Returns from 147 of the 2,930 state legislature seats and 62 of the 494 parliamentary contests gave Nehru's party 969 of the state assembly seats and 29 of the Parliament seats.

The Communist party was second with 79 assembly seats and 8 in Parliament. Political observers said the continued strength of the Communists, despite Red China's encroachment on Himalayan territory claimed by India, indicated the Communists had capitalized on local grievances while voters forgot national problems.

The Communists improved their percentage of votes in south India's Kerala state, from 43.32 per cent in a 1959 election of the state assembly to 54.4 per cent in 15 of the 18 parliamentary races.

The Congress party and the Peoples Socialist party allied with it in Kerala dropped from 48.83 per cent to 44.4 per cent.

The Communists also improved their position in Andhra Pradesh state. Partial returns gave them 37 assembly seats. They had 15 seats in the last assembly. Nehru's Congress party had 110 seats.

Triumphal Day in Nation's Capital May Be Only Sample for Astronaut

WASHINGTON (AP)—It was a long, wet, happy day on the glory trail for John H. Glenn Jr. and his family—a triumphal day of trumpets and thunderous applause and tears of pride.

It didn't end until they were home in suburban Arlington, Va., listening to their neighbors singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Then the Glenns slipped into their house and put their feet up in front of the fire. They had a lot to talk about, both of the past and the future.

For Monday's celebration in the capital for astronaut Glenn, the first American to orbit the earth, may be only a taste of what is to come.

As one woman among the parade crowd put it: "America has needed a hero, and now we really have one."

A hero's welcome is what the snub-nosed, grinning Marine got. It was a rainy bone-chilling day, and for a while officials feared the weather might keep away the crowds. They could have saved themselves some worry.

About 250,000 persons, by police estimates, lined Pennsylvania Avenue—the route of heroes—as the presidential limousine nosed out of the White House gate with Glenn perched high in back, grinning and waving.

Standing at the podium before a joint meeting of both houses of Congress—some members holding children in their laps—Glenn said humbly:

"We are just probing the surface of the greatest advancement of man's knowledge of his surroundings that have ever been made."

There were tears in the eyes of his wife and mother, Mrs. John H. Glenn Sr., as the Congress, the Cabinet and the black-robed Supreme Court rose to acclaim him. Glenn spoke with poise and easy humor. He introduced his parents, children and wife and they were cheered as they stood in the gallery.

Glenn brought the house down with a humorous reference to Caroline Kennedy, 4, who had asked him earlier, "Where's the monkey?" He said her concern over the chimpanzee astronaut who preceded him into space "really cut us down to size and put us back in the proper position."

But Glenn had serious words as well.

He paid high tribute to his fellow astronauts and the thousands whose tasks backed up the Mercury flight.

"From the original vision of the Congress to consummation of this orbital flight has been just over three years," he said. "This in itself states eloquently the case for the hard work and devotion of the entire Mercury team."

Glenn smiled and shook a hundred hands as he made his way out of the Capitol, down the broad steps and off to a luncheon at the State Department. Excited children of some members got a special grin and a few personal words from the first American to orbit the earth.

Finally it was home again where a noisy homecoming celebration with about 750 persons jammed about the house.

After his family filed into the house, Glenn made a short front step speech.

"Coming home to you is like coming home to home folks," he said.

But there was no day off to day. Glenn had an appointment to appear before a congressional space hearing.

Kennedy Urges Self-Financed Insurance Setup

Vast Immunization, Group Practice Ideas Sent to Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today sent Congress a new and urgent plea for health insurance for the aged, "self-financed" by a $1 billion boost in Social Security taxes.

In a special health message urging lawmakers to bring the miracles of modern medicine within reach of all Americans, Kennedy also proposed:

1. A three-year, nationwide immunization drive to stamp out polio, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus, with Uncle Sam footing the whole bill for vaccine for every child under 5.

2. Federal loans to help build and equip centers for group practice by doctors and dentists, to stretch the supply of medical skills and improve the quality of care—especially in small towns.

3. New and expanded federal outlays totaling $182 million for mental health, control of pollution, medical research and other programs.

Two new White House bills were due to reach Congress right after the message—the mass-vaccination plan and a broadened governmental attack on air and water pollution and radiation hazards.

"We can now save one out of every three victims of cancer," Kennedy told lawmakers who are just now grappling with some of his earlier health proposals.

"... full prevention of many forms of heart disease seems increasingly within our reach," he added.

"The discovery and widespread use of tranquilizing drugs in the past six years has resulted in an unprecedented reduction of 32,000 patients in the census of our state mental hospitals."

"But far more needs to be done."

The $182 million hike in appropriation requests includes $35 million for the immunization drive, but not the costs of another program close to Kennedy's heart—an attack on mental retardation in children.

His panel on mental retardation will make its reports by the end of the year, Kennedy said. With it in hand he will offer a program to discover, treat and prevent the many and obscure causes of this affliction of five million Americans.

Specific proposals to further the "group practice" plan will come later this session. Smaller communities will get priority in the loans to encourage general practitioners and specialists to pool their skills and facilities. Non-profit and cooperative groups also will get preference, but private profit-making ventures will also qualify.

Both children and adults would benefit from the mass vaccination plan, if state and local programs are launched which qualify for federal aid.

Columbus Police Sued by Widow

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The widow of a Kentucky man slain by a policeman's bullet last August, is suing Columbus' police chief, safety director and the patrolman.

Mrs. Jimmie Charles Coleman of Pikeville, Ky., filed suit in U. S. District court here Monday seeking $260,000 damages. The action requests trial by jury.

Coleman was fatally wounded the night of Aug. 19, 1961 in Columbus as he ran from Patrolman Peter South, Coleman's attorney and relatives maintained he did not know South was a policeman and ran for fear of being robbed.

Senators Shun Invite From Katanga Chieftain

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate subcommittee has declined the invitation of Katanga President Moise Tshombe to visit his Congo province for an on-the-spot investigation. It said it didn't want its presence there to interfere with man of the Senate Foreign Relations efforts to unify the country.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., chairmans subcommittee on African Affairs, announced the decision Monday after the group met behind closed doors with Harland Cleveland, assistant secretary of state for international organization affairs.

Glenn Advises Congressmen On Hazards of Space Flight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., America's first "round-the-world" astronaut, told Congress today that "not every flight can come back as successfully as the three we have had so far."

Glenn made the remark in matter-of-fact fashion as part of his reply to a question whether it might be better to have a trained scientist along on some future flights.

He told the House Space Committee it is hoped that some day there will be space craft large enough for the kind of specialization but "at least for the immediate future we can better use pilots than scientists."

There may be emergencies the trained pilot could meet better, he explained.

Glenn gave his testimony in a crowded hearing room after appearances by James E. Webb, chief of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Space Flight Director Robert Gilruth, and Glenn's two astronaut colleagues, Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard Jr. and Capt. Virgil I. Grissom.

Shepard and Grissom had preceded Glenn, in suborbital flight, to pave the way for Glenn to race three times around the world in orbit last Tuesday.

Shepard, the first American in space, told the legislators that men in the space program made their own luck.

Shepard said he has been lucky. "Where do you get your luck?" "We make our own luck by careful attention to details and duty and design and qualification tests," Shepard said.

He added that the provision of back-up systems for use if one piece of equipment fails, plus a thorough testing program, provide reliability. But he said they take time and money.

The first witness in the committee's study of the $2,260,000,000 budget request for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to carry on manned space flight was Webb.

Webb said that one very distinguished U. S. scientist has volunteered to go along with astronauts on the first mission to the moon.

Webb did not identify the volunteer. He said the scientist declared that if he could be assured of staying on the moon two weeks and of being able to report back to earth the information he had learned, he would be happy to take the chance.

Webb mentioned this in connection with a question on reported plans of the Russians to land man on the moon and attempt to recover him with a later flight.

Webb said the Russians very likely will place a man in orbit around the moon before the United States does, and also probably will be the first to fly several men around the moon and return them to earth.

He said the United States, probably will be first to land a man on the moon and return him safely.

"I believe we have a greater capacity to do this than the Russians do," he said.

Lady in Distress Done Costly Favor

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police were looking for two men who did a "favor" for a lady in distress.

Mrs. Margaret L. Ellis, 45, said her car stalled two blocks from her home Monday night. Two men drove up and offered to help. One took over the wheel. The other pushed the stalled vehicle with his car.

The car started. Mrs. Ellis said she was very grateful—until she noticed her $25 purse containing $68 had vanished from the rear seat. Then she called police.

Algeria Rebels OK Peace Pact

Self-Determination Referendum Sought

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP)—The Algerian rebel parliament has accepted a peace agreement with France to end the 7½-year Algerian war, well informed sources said today.

The sources said the National Council for Algerian Revolution, the rebel parliament, met here today to draft an announcement of its acceptance of the accord worked out by French and rebel representatives in secret negotiations in Switzerland.

But the sources said the announcement would not be made public until after the Algerian leaders leave Tripoli.

The rebel council has been discussing the peace agreement for the past five days in Tripoli.

The French government already has approved the agreement, which calls for a cease-fire, a transitional period during which a self-determination referendum will be held in Algeria, and guarantees for the European minority in Algeria, French use of the naval base at Mers-el-Kebir outside Oran, and French interests in the Sahara oil fields.

In preparation for announcement of the agreement and the anticipated violent reaction from die-hard European opponents of Algerian independence, French Premier Michel Debre ordered French military commanders in Algeria to deploy reserve forces through the major cities swept by waves of terrorist killings.

Debre reportedly ordered commanders to deploy forces which had been held in readiness for any attempt by the Secret Army Organization of European settlers to overthrow the government.

Thirty-seven persons were killed Monday and 49 wounded in Algerian cities. In Algiers alone 22 died.

The government seemed helpless to stop the killings, mostly of Moslems shot by European gunmen.

Authorities sent a battalion of infantry and three squadrons of Mobile Guardsmen—about 1,000 men—into the heart of Algiers Monday. Soldiers lined the Rue Michelet, a street of shops and cafes where Europeans strolled despite shots and speeding ambulances.

Medal of Honor For Glenn Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two proposals to give astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. the Medal of Honor have been introduced in Congress.

One bill, introduced Monday by Rep. Frank Chelf, D-Ky., would authorize presentation of the medals to all seven astronauts assigned to the Project Mercury man-in-space program.

Chelf's bill also would provide bonuses of two years salary for each of the astronauts and of $5,000 to "each scientist, physicist, mathematician, engineer and technician and other persons materially and actively engaged in" Project Mercury.

The other proposal by Sen. Olin D. Johnston, D-S.C., would authorize the Medal of Honor for Glenn alone.

Scioto River To Crest at About 16 Feet

The Scioto River here is expected to crest of about 16 feet by noon tomorrow.

An early morning reading showed the river at 14.48 feet. At noon it had climbed to 15.28 feet.

Bottom lands were flooded although no roads in the county were closed due to the high waters.

Rainfall within the past 24 hours here measured .63 of an inch. This brings the total rainfall since last Friday to 1.78 inches.

The weatherman has predicted light rain or drizzle for today and tonight changing to freezing rain or light snow by tomorrow.

Pravda Chides Lackadaisical Soviet Farmer

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda complained today that many Russian farmers still are not prepared for spring planting, only a few weeks away.

The Communist party newspaper implied that one reason was passive resistance in some areas to new farming methods proposed by Premier Khrushchev, scheduled to go into effect this year.

The farmers' lackadaisical preparations for spring field work, nothing new in the Soviet Union, is especially serious this year, Pravda explained, because of the sharp increase ordered in crop acreage.

The Soviet Communist party Central Committee will meet next week to adopt a decision pressing into use farm acreage that previously allowed to stand fallow.

The Central Committee decision is expected to cut short an internal party debate over the grassland farming system, which Khrushchev wants to root out of Soviet agriculture. This is a conservation program of keeping some marginal land in grass.

Foreign farm experts and some Soviet specialists believe Khrushchev's plan for intensive cultivation of annual crops by doing away with the grassland system could prove disastrous for Soviet agriculture.

Once Around Roundtown

At least two local people have a keen interest in the recent fame of Lt. Col. John H. Glenn and his hometown of New Concord. . . .

Dave McDonald, local businessman, was a originally from New Concord, where his parents still live. . . . He knew Astronaut Glenn personally. . . . Glenn was a classmate of Mac's younger brother at Muskingum College.

Mrs. J. O. Eagleson, 702 N. Pickaway St., reports that she is kin to the famous spaceman. . . . Mrs. Eagleson's grandfather was the brother of Sarah Robe Laughlin, the great-grandmother of astronaut Glenn. . . . This makes her and Glenn second cousins twice removed, according to Mrs. Eagleson.

Gotham Readies Parade for Glenn

NEW YORK (AP)—The package of gratitude this city will present John H. Glenn Jr. and his six fellow astronauts Thursday will include ticker tape, fireboat salutes and thousands of holidaying school kids.

These, plus the formal welcomes of city fathers and the cheers of the city's millions, may add up to the greatest celebration of its type ever staged here, city officials said.

Lt. Col. Glenn, the Marine who became the nation's first astronaut to orbit the globe, will be accompanied by his family—as will the six other American spacemen.

Solar Observatory Launching Delayed

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—An attempt to launch an orbiting solar observatory, scheduled for today, has been postponed because of troubles during a rocket test-firing in Maryland.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Monday the launching of the 440-pound satellite, nicknamed OSO, will be delayed several days. OSO is designed to investigate sun-earth relations.

Irish Terrorist War 'Ended'

Underground Group Pleads for Unity

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—Both sides of the Irish border welcomed today the underground Irish Republican Army's announcement that it had abandoned its terrorist war to unite the island. But Northern Ireland's government, target of the outlawed IRA's attacks, said it will keep its guard up.

The IRA declared its peace in copies of a statement slipped on to front counters of Dublin newspaper offices Monday night.

The 1,000-word statement said the IRA members had called a halt to five years of bombing and shooting attacks and had thrown away their arms.

The IRA admitted it had received little support from the Irish people and blamed public apathy on government muzzling of the press. It said the IRA would embark on a campaign to keep Ireland out of involvement in European alliances which it said might lead the country into war.

Charles Haughey, minister of justice of the Irish republic, called the IRA decision good news and said the underground's terrorism "was a policy which Irish public opinion had decisively rejected."

8 States See Mercury Hit 30 Below

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Midwinter cold stung wide areas from the Rockies into northern sections of the Midwest today with some of the chilly air dipping southward into northern Texas.

It was near 30 below zero in some parts of the eight states hit by the late winter cold snap—about three weeks before spring's arrival.

The sub-zero belt extended from Montana into Colorado, Wyoming, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Iowa and Minnesota. It was an icy 23 in Huron, S. D., 27 in Butte, Mont., 26 in Bozeman, Mont., and Minot, N. D., and 24 in International Falls, Minn. Denver, with more snow, reported 9 below and it was 10 below in Minneapolis, Mason City, Iowa, and Worland, Wyo. Omaha's 6 tied the low mark for the date. The same mark was reported in Des Moines and North Platte, Neb.

The snow storm which hit the Midwest Sunday and Monday moved into the Northeast with falls of one to two inches during a six-hour period Monday night in New England. Snow flurries continued in the Great Lakes region and the upper Ohio Valley.

South of the snow and cold regions, warm moist air from the south collided with the Arctic air from the north, producing moderate to heavy thundershowers in Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas and northern Mississippi. Unseasonably warm weather continued in most of the Southeast.

FDR Views Are Quoted By Spellman

NEW YORK (AP)—President Franklin D. Roosevelt is quoted in a biography of Francis Cardinal Spellman as saying in 1943 that Russia would dominate Europe after World War II—and that he hoped Europe would be able to adjust to the situation.

Roosevelt also is quoted as telling the cardinal in a White House meeting that he planned to make an agreement by which China would get the Far East, the United States the Pacific, and Britain and Russia would divide Europe and Africa.

The biography, to be published by Doubleday and Co. Inc., as "The Cardinal Spellman Story," was written by the Rev. Robert I. Gannon, former president of Fordham University. Excerpts appear in this week's issue of Look magazine.

The archbishop's meeting with Roosevelt, Father Gannon wrote, was in September of 1943 after Cardinal Spellman had completed a six-month tour of the fighting fronts.

The biography says Cardinal Spellman kept a memorandum of the meeting, in which he quoted Roosevelt as assuming that Russia would "predominate in Europe as Britain has predominantly colonial interests."

As one woman among the parade crowd put it: "America has needed a hero, and now we really have one."

A hero's welcome is what the snub-nosed, grinning Marine got. It was a rainy bone-chilling day, and for a while officials feared the weather might keep away the crowds. They could have saved themselves some worry.

About 250,000 persons, by police estimates, lined Pennsylvania Avenue—the route of heroes—as the presidential limousine nosed out of the White House gate with Glenn perched high in back, grinning and waving.

Standing at the podium before a joint meeting of both houses of Congress—some members holding children in their laps—Glenn said humbly:

"We are just probing the surface of the greatest advancement of man's knowledge of his surroundings that have ever been made."

There were tears in the eyes of his wife and mother, Mrs. John H. Glenn Sr., as the Congress, the Cabinet and the black-robed Supreme Court rose to acclaim him.

Glenn spoke with poise and easy humor. He introduced his parents, children and wife and they were cheered as they stood in the gallery.

Glenn brought the house down with a humorous reference to Caroline Kennedy, 4, who had asked him earlier, "Where's the monkey?" He said her concern over the chimpanzee astronaut who preceded him into space "really cut us down to size and put us back in the proper position."

But Glenn had serious words as well.

He paid high tribute to his fellow astronauts and the thousands whose tasks backed up the Mercury flight.

"From the original vision of the Congress to consummation of this orbital flight has been just over three years," he said. "This in itself states eloquently the case for the hard work and devotion of the entire Mercury team."

Glenn smiled and shook a hundred hands as he made his way out of the Capitol, down the broad steps and off to a luncheon at the State Department. Excited children of some members got a special grin and a few personal words from the first American to orbit the earth.

Finally it was home again where a noisy homecoming celebration with about 750 persons jammed about the house.

After his family filed into the house, Glenn made a short front step speech.

"Coming home to you is like coming home to home folks," he said.

But there was no day off to day. Glenn had an appointment to appear before a congressional space hearing.

Algeria Rebels OK Peace Pact

Self-Determination Referendum Sought

TRIPOLI, Libya (AP)—The Algerian rebel parliament has accepted a peace agreement with France to end the 7½-year Algerian war, well informed sources said today.

The sources said the National Council for Algerian Revolution, the rebel parliament, met here today to draft an announcement of its acceptance of the accord worked out by French and rebel representatives in secret negotiations in Switzerland.

But the sources said the announcement would not be made public until after the Algerian leaders leave Tripoli.

The rebel council has been discussing the peace agreement for the past five days in Tripoli.

The French government already has approved the agreement, which calls for a cease-fire, a transitional period during which a self-determination referendum will be held in Algeria, and guarantees for the European minority in Algeria. French use of the naval base at Mers-el-Kebir outside Oran, and French interests in the Sahara oil fields.

In preparation for announcement of the agreement and the anticipated violent reaction from die-hard European opponents of Algerian independence, French Premier Michel Debre ordered French military commanders in Algeria to deploy reserve forces through the major cities swept by waves of terrorist killings.

Debre reportedly ordered commanders to deploy forces which had been held in readiness for any attempt by the Secret Army Organization of European settlers to overthrow the government.

Thirty-seven persons were killed Monday and 49 wounded in Algerian cities. In Algiers alone 22 died.

The government seemed helpless to stop the killings, mostly of Moslems shot by European gunmen.

Authorities sent a battalion of infantry and three squadrons of Mobile Guardsmen—about 1,000 men—into the heart of Algiers Monday. Soldiers lined the Rue Michelet, a street of shops and cafes where Europeans strolled despite shots and speeding ambulances.

Medal of Honor For Glenn Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two proposals to give astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. the Medal of Honor have been introduced in Congress.

One bill, introduced Monday by Rep. Frank Chelf, D-Ky., would authorize presentation of the medal to all seven astronauts assigned to the Project Mercury man-in-space program.

Chelf's bill also would provide bonuses of two years salary for each of the astronauts and of $5,000 to "each scientist, physicist, mathematician, engineer and technician and other persons materially and actively engaged in" Project Mercury.

The other proposal by Sen. Olin D. Johnston, D-S.C., would authorize the Medal of Honor for Glenn alone.

SWOLLEN SCIOTO — The Scioto River here flooded its banks for the second time within a four-day period. Last night's .63-inch rainfall caused the river to creep closer to Routes 56 and 104 bordering the river. The reading at noon today was 15.28 feet. Flood stage here is 14 feet. (Staff Photo)

Scioto River To Crest at About 16 Feet

The Scioto River here is expected to crest at about 16 feet by noon tomorrow.

An early morning reading showed the river at 14.48 feet. At noon it had climbed to 15.28 feet.

Bottom lands were flooded although no roads in the county were closed due to the high waters.

Rainfall within the past 24 hours here measured .63 of an inch. This brings the total rainfall since last Friday to 1.78 inches.

The weatherman has predicted light rain or drizzle for today and tonight changing to freezing rain or light snow by tomorrow.

Pravda Chides Lackadaisical Soviet Farmer

MOSCOW (AP)—Pravda complained today that many Russian farmers still are not prepared for spring planting, only a few weeks away.

The Communist party newspaper implied that one reason was passive resistance in some areas to new farming methods proposed by Premier Khrushchev, scheduled to go into effect this year.

The farmers' lackadaisical preparations for spring field work, nothing new in the Soviet Union, is especially serious this year, Pravda explained, because of the sharp increase ordered in crop acreage.

The Soviet Communist party Central Committee will meet next week to adopt a decision pressing into use farm acreage that previously allowed to stand fallow.

The Central Committee decision is expected to cut short an internal party debate over the grassland farming system, which Khrushchev wants to root out of Soviet agriculture. This is a conservation program of keeping some marginal land in grass.

Foreign farm experts and some Soviet specialists believe Khrushchev's plan for intensive cultivation of annual crops by doing away with the grassland system could prove disastrous for Soviet agriculture.

Once Around Roundtown

At least two local people have a keen interest in the recent fame of Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. and his hometown of New Concord.

Dave McDonald, local businessman, was a originally from New Concord, where his parents still live. He knew Astronaut Glenn personally. . . . Glenn was a classmate of Mac's younger brother at Muskingum College.

Mrs. J. O. Eagleson, 702 N. Pickaway St., reports that she is kin to the famous spaceman. . . . Mrs. Eagleson's grandfather was the brother of Sarah Robe Laughlin, the great-great-grandmother of astronaut Glenn. . . . This makes her and Glenn second cousins twice removed, according to Mrs. Eagleson.

Gotham Readies Parade for Glenn

NEW YORK (AP)—The package of gratitude this city will present John H. Glenn Jr. and his six fellow astronauts Thursday will include ticker tape, fireboat salutes and thousands of holidaying school kids.

These, plus the formal welcomes of city fathers and the cheers of the city's millions, may add up to the greatest celebration of its type ever staged here, city officials said.

Lt. Col. Glenn, the Marine who became the nation's first astronaut to orbit the globe, will be accompanied by his family—as will the six other American space-men.

Solar Observatory Launching Delayed

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—An attempt to launch an orbiting solar observatory, scheduled for today, has been postponed because of troubles during a rocket test-firing in Maryland.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Monday the launching of the 440-pound satellite, nicknamed OSO, will be delayed several days.

OSO is designed to investigate sun-earth relations.

Irish Terrorist War 'Ended'

Underground Group Pleads for Unity

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—Both sides of the Irish border welcomed today the underground Irish Republican Army's announcement that it had abandoned its terrorist war to unite the island. But Northern Ireland's government, target of the outlawed IRA's attacks, said it will keep its guard up.

The IRA declared its peace in copies of a statement slipped out to front counters of Dublin newspaper offices Monday night.

The 1,000-word statement said the IRA members had called a halt to five years of bombing and shooting attacks and had thrown away their arms.

The IRA admitted it had received little support from the Irish people and blamed public apathy on government muzzling of the press. It said the IRA would embark on a campaign to keep Ireland out of involvement in European alliances which it said might lead the country into war.

Charles Haughey, minister of justice of the Irish republic, called the IRA decision good news and said the underground's terrorism "was a policy which Irish public opinion had decisively rejected."

8 States See Mercury Hit 30 Below

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Midwinter cold stung wide areas from the Rockies to northern sections of the Midwest today with some of the chilly air dipping southward into northern Texas.

It was near 30 below zero in some parts of the eight states hit by the late winter cold snap—about three weeks before spring's arrival.

The sub-zero belt extended from Montana into Colorado, Wyoming, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Iowa and Minnesota. It was an icy -28 in Huron, S. D., -27 in Butte, Mont., -26 in Bozeman, Mont., and Minot, N. D., and -24 in International Falls, Minn. Denver, with more snow, reported 9 below and it was 10 below in Minneapolis, Mason City, Iowa, and Worland, Wyo. Omaha's -6 tied the low mark for the date. The same mark was reported in Des Moines and North Platte, Neb.

The snow storm which hit the Midwest Sunday and Monday moved into the Northeast with falls of one to two inches during a six-hour period Monday night in New England. Snow flurries continued in the Great Lakes region and the upper Ohio Valley.

South of the snow and cold regions, warm moist air from the south collided with the Arctic air from the north, producing moderate to heavy thundershowers in Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas and northern Mississippi. Unseasonably warm weather continued in most of the Southeast.

Kennedy Urges Self-Financed Insurance Setup

Vast Immunization, Group Practice Ideas Sent to Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today sent Congress a new and urgent plea for health insurance for the aged, "self-financed" by a $1 billion boost in Social Security taxes.

In a special health message urging lawmakers to bring the miracles of modern medicine within reach of all Americans, Kennedy also proposed:

1. A three-year, nationwide immunization drive to stamp out polio, diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus, with Uncle Sam footing the whole bill for vaccine for every child under 5.

2. Federal loans to help build and equip centers for group practice by doctors and dentists, to stretch the supply of medical skills and improve the quality of care—especially in small towns.

3. New and expanded federal outlays totaling $182 million for mental health, control of pollution, medical research and other programs.

Two new White House bills were due to reach Congress right after the message—the mass-vaccination plan and a broadened governmental attack on air and water pollution and radiation hazards.

"We can now save one out of every three victims of cancer," Kennedy told lawmakers who are just now grappling with some of his earlier health proposals.

"... full prevention of many forms of heart disease seems increasingly within our reach," he added.

"The discovery and widespread use of tranquilizing drugs in the past six years has resulted in an unprecedented reduction of 32,000 patients in the census of our state mental hospitals.

"But far more needs to be done."

The $182 million hike in appropriation requests includes $35 million for the immunization drive, but not the costs of another program close to Kennedy's heart—an attack on mental retardation in children.

His panel on mental retardation will make its reports by the end of the year, Kennedy said. With it in hand he will offer a program to discover, treat and prevent the many and obscure causes of this affliction of five million Americans.

Specific proposals to further the "group practice" plan will come later this session. Smaller communities will get priority in the loans to encourage general practitioners and specialists to pool their skills and facilities. Non-profit and cooperative groups also will get preference, but private profit-making ventures will also qualify.

Both children and adults would benefit from the mass vaccination plan, if state and local programs are launched which qualify for federal aid.

Columbus Police Sued by Widow

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The widow of a Kentucky man slain by a policeman's bullet last August, is suing Columbus' police chief, safety director and the patrolman.

Mrs. Jimmie Charles Coleman of Pikeville, Ky., filed suit in U.S. District Court here Monday seeking $260,000 damages. The action requests trial by jury.

Coleman was fatally wounded the night of Aug. 19, 1961 in Columbus as he ran from Patrolman Peter Souch. Coleman's attorney and relatives maintained he did not know Souch was a policeman and ran for fear of being robbed.

MIAMI, Fla. — In a unique move to arouse people to the truth about Communism, a South Florida industrialist is demonstrating what one man can do in behalf of freedom.

Truly Nolen, veteran Rotarian, ardent Christian, and Florida's biggest independent exterminator, has begun combining books with bus benches as bullets in his battle for the free world against Communism.

For the next seven months, 100 strategically placed bus benches throughout the tourist area will colorfully remind you to "Learn How to Fight Communism" and urge you to read a book recommended by the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Nolen launched his campaign with J. Edgar Hoover's "Masters of Deceit." The bus inscription will be changed each month or so, to name another anti-Communist book.

A thousand copies of Hoover's book back up Nolen's invitation to read it, with more than 100-car fleet of service trucks carrying copies of the currently advertised reading.

Bridge Repair Is Sought by Area Delegation

A citizens delegation appeared before the Board of County Commissioners yesterday in an effort to hasten repairs on a bridge over Walnut Creek near Ashville. County Engineer Henry T. McCrady placed a three-ton limit on the bridge following the discovery of a defect in the span's floor last month.

Members of the delegation appearing before the board were Ben Nosthine, Chester Fausnaugh, Ernest Barr, George Dresbach, T. Leroy Cromley, Hewitt Cromley, Don Balthaser, Joe Brooks, Ed Pritchard, Nelson Bell Sr., Warner Hedges, Ted Steele and Russell Spangler. No definite action was taken by the Commission although it was indicated repair on the bridge flooring will start soon.

Commissioners endorsed the Pickaway County Agronomy Committee's Soil Fertility Program and theme "Don't Guess — Soil Test" upon request of George Hamrick, county extension agent.

willing to further the program.

Letters of commendation are pouring in from a variety of grateful enthusiasts, all the way from bank officers to Cuban refugees, including study group leaders who want miniatures.

Truly Nolen at the outset was struck anew by the ageless fact that "the time for thinkers has come." One of 13 children of a circuit-riding, Mississippi minister, he longed to place his motivating thumb in the dike of understanding and stem the flood of Communistic thought that now rages 90 miles from our mainland.

Together with Mrs. Nolen, he attended an anti-Communist course of study, and now, as Cuban children were being shipped away to be brainwashed of Christianity, he asked himself earnestly, "What Can I do?"

The answer was ready, complete and in detail. He would share what he knew about the threatening menace, and he would advertise what it was he had to share.

Now, the symbol of Truly Nolen's exterminating service is a smiling, little, tuskless elephant, wearing a small, cocky crown. The perky pudgy sprays through his trunk; has the descriptive name of Nozzle Nolen.

Senator Cites Differences In Government

CINCINNATI (AP) — The way Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, sees it, the difference between democracy and communism is the difference between a government of law and a government of men.

Speaking to the Cincinnati Junior Chamber of Commerce Monday night, the senator declared: "In the Red Square in Moscow, what do they have there on display under glass? The embalmed corpse of Lenin and until recently Stalin.

In the beautiful Archives Building in Washington we proudly display under glass the Constitution of the United States and the Bill of Rights. This illustrates the difference between government of men and government of law."

Starting from this premise, Sen. Young blasted both "the Fascist-minded extremists of the right" and labor leaders who call strikes on missile bases.

He warned that unless such strikes cease, Congress may pass a bill outlawing all such work stoppages and to establish compulsory arbitration machinery for settling labor disputes involving national defense.

As for the ultra-rightists, Sen. Young accused them of proposing to "repeal the 20th century."

"Whoever doesn't swallow their brand of Americanism, they say is a Communist," he said. "Mention the word negotiations, and they cry appeasement."

leader would make a 15-minute statement, followed by translation, which would be shown in the other country.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said "there are no present arrangements" for such programs.

Other sources, however, said Salinger reached agreement in principle on such a trade with his Soviet counterpart, Mikhail Kharlamov, when the two met in Paris last month.

Presentation of the American viewpoint behind the Iron Curtain, including statements by U. S. leaders, has been a longtime U. S. objective which has met with limited success so far. Kennedy was interviewed last November by Izvestia editor Alexei I. Adzhubel, Khrushchev's son-in-law. The interview was published in the Soviet government newspaper.

While the Kennedy-Khrushchev exchange was described as a matter between the White House and the Kremlin, it was understood that details have been discussed at the current State Department talks with a Soviet delegation on renewing the U. S.-Soviet cultural exchange agreement for another two years.

The new cultural agreement, at its present stage of negotiation, was said to provide for appearances of high public figures on radio or television either in person or recorded. The Kennedy-Khrushchev exchange would be taped or filmed.

The general cultural exchange accord for 1962-3, like its predecessor, is expected to cover a broad range of visits between the two countries of performers, scientists, specialists, teachers and students, and a swapping of films and exhibitions.

U. S. authorities expressed hope that the State Department negotiations, under way since Jan. 31, would produce an agreement with the Russians this week.

Truly Nolen

willing to further the program.

Letters of commendation are pouring in from a variety of grateful enthusiasts, all the way from bank officers to Cuban refugees, including study group leaders who want miniatures.

Truly Nolen at the outset was struck anew by the ageless fact that "the time for thinkers has come." One of 13 children of a circuit-riding, Mississippi minister, he longed to place his motivating thumb in the dike of understanding and stem the flood of Communistic thought that now rages 90 miles from our mainland.

Together with Mrs. Nolen, he attended an anti-Communist course of study, and now, as Cuban children were being shipped away to be brainwashed of Christianity, he asked himself earnestly, "What Can I do?"

The answer was ready, complete and in detail. He would share what he knew about the threatening menace, and he would advertise what it was he had to share.

Now, the symbol of Truly Nolen's exterminating service is a smiling, little, tuskless elephant, wearing a small, cocky crown. The perky pudgy sprays through his trunk; has the descriptive name of Nozzle Nolen.

100 bus benches. A roach, rat, termite, spider, scorpion and a snake and Cuba's Castro (already brought to his knees with the other pests) are "catching it!"

"That snake," Truly explained "is the lying tongue of Communism — the talking snake of Genesis."

Bridge Repair Is Sought by Area Delegation

A citizens delegation appeared before the Board of County Commissioners yesterday in an effort to hasten repairs on a bridge over Walnut Creek near Ashville. County Engineer Henry T. McCrady placed a three-ton limit on the bridge following the discovery of a defect in the span's floor last month.

Members of the delegation appearing before the board were Ben Nothstine, Chester Fausnaugh, Ernest Barr, George Dresbach, T. Leroy Cromley, Hewitt Cromley, Don Balchaser, Joe Brooks, Ed Pritchard, Nelson Bell Sr., Warner Hedges, Ted Steele and Russell Spangler. No definite action was taken by the Commission although it was indicated repair on the bridge flooring will start soon.

Commissioners endorsed the Pickaway County Agronomy Committee's Soil Fertility Program and theme "Don't Guess — Soil Test" upon request of George Hamrick, county extension agent.

IN OTHER actions taken by the board, an appropriation of $100 was approved for electrical wiring in a room at the Veterans Apartment Building, W. High St. The area is being used as a clothing distribution center for needy families.

A $200 appropriation was also approved for a Common Pleas Court stenographer in the absence of Miss Dorothy Updyke who is on a leave of absence.

Stocks Show Higher Drift

NEW YORK (AP) — Improvement in the industrials gave an irregular stock market a slightly higher drift early this afternoon. Trading was moderate.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon rose .20 to 258.30 with industrials up .80, rails unchanged, utilities off .10.

America, Soviet May Swap Kennedy-Khrushch Telecasts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Union are reported to be arranging for an exchange next month of simultaneous filmed telecasts by President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev.

Informants said Monday the tentative date for the exchange is March 24 or 25. They said each leader would make a 15-minute statement, followed by translation, which would be shown in the other country.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said "there are no present arrangements" for such programs.

Other sources, however, said Salinger reached agreement in principle on such a trade with his Soviet counterpart, Mikhail Kharlamov, when the two met in Paris last month.

Presentation of the American viewpoint behind the Iron Curtain, including statements by U. S. leaders, has been a longtime U. S. objective which has met with limited success so far. Kennedy was interviewed last November by Izvestia editor Alexei I. Adzhubei, Khrushchev's son-in-law. The interview was published in the Soviet government newspaper.

While the Kennedy-Khrushchev exchange was described as a matter between the White House and the Kremlin, it was understood that details have been discussed at the current State Department talks with a Soviet delegation on renewing the U. S.-Soviet cultural exchange agreement for another two years.

The new cultural agreement, at its present stage of negotiation, was said to provide for appearances of high public figures on radio or television either in person or recorded. The Kennedy-Khrushchev exchange would be taped or filmed.

The general cultural exchange accord for 1962-3, like its predecessor, is expected to cover a broad range of visits between the two countries of performers, scientists, specialists, teachers and students, and a swapping of films and exhibitions.

U. S. authorities expressed hope that the State Department negotiations, under way since Jan. 31, would produce an agreement with the Russians this week.

No longer be annoyed or feel ill-at-ease because of loose, wobbly false teeth. FASTEETH, an improved alkaline (non-acid) powder, sprinkled on your plates holds them firmer so they feel more comfortable. Avoid embarrassment caused by loose plates. Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Starting from this premise, Sen Young blasted both "the Fascist-minded extremists of the right" and labor leaders who call strikes on missile bases.

He warned that unless such strikes cease, Congress may pass a bill outlawing all such work stoppages and to establish compulsory arbitration machinery for settling labor disputes involving national defense.

As for the ultra-rightists, Sen. Young accused them of proposing to "repeat the 20th century."

"Whoever doesn't swallow their brand of Americanism, they say is a Communist," he said. "Mention the word negotiations, and they cry appeasement."

Elderly Man Is Guest in Foster Home

NEW YORK (AP)—John Olsen, alone at 79, has found a fountain of youth through a relatively new twist on an idea that has given meaning to the lives of countless orphaned children.

He lives in a foster home for the elderly.

"This has been the life for me," Olsen said of the time he has spent in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Maxfield and their children in the Bronx.

"I am 79 and don't feel any different than when I was 20," he said. "They treat me like I was one of the family. The children call me Uncle John."

His was a situation typical of those of many of the nation's elderly. He had just been released from a hospital after suffering a broken hip. He had no immediate relatives. His hotel rent was $90 a month and his social security check only $78 a month.

Olsen was sent to his foster home through the Catholic Charities Family Service Department. Olsen told the New York Herald Tribune that it is the attitude of the Maxfield family that makes his foster home a happiness house.

"In some places they could keep you in the chest upstairs and only let you come down to eat. Now you take the two boys here—David (18) and Tommy (14)—they bought a big birthday cake for me when I was 79. The boys did this and gave me a party."

"All kidding aside," he added. "I'm in a pretty good spot."

The Maxfields receive $150 a month, with Olsen contributing his Social Security and the City Welfare Department making up the difference. Olsen also receives about $10 a month spending money from the city.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Now that the nation has honored astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.—and itself through him—it had better get ready for some fresh jolts to its ego.

Glenn's journey gave the nation's morale a needed boost, since this country's prestige and self-confidence had been somewhat fractured by Soviet achievements in space. So his success was nationally shared.

It's a good bet new jolts will come from Russia which is still ahead in manned space shots, including Glenn's triple orbit.

The Russians not only put the first man into orbit, a once-around journey, but a second one went around 17 times.

It may be 1963 before the United States can orbit a man that often. This country hopes to fly five orbital missions this year, the last one to go the Russians one better with 18 orbits.

The United States has done better with satellites. Although the Russians were the first to send a satellite around the earth—Sputnik I—this country has more than caught up with them in total numbers in the satellite field.

So far the United States has sent 63 scientific satellites into earth orbit and three around the sun. The Russians have put 13 satellites into earth orbit, two around the sun, and hit the moon with another.

As a result this country has collected far more scientific information about what goes on in space than the Russians.

Still, that first Sputnik, the first man-shot, and the first moon-shot got more attention and propaganda mileage than the more useful and numerous American satellites.

Since the Russians' last manned space shot with Maj. Gherman S. Titov was last August—when he orbited 17 times—they seem overdue for another sensation.

And, because they're ahead, it seems likely they would hit the moon with a man before the United States can. The Russians, who like space spectacles, would score their biggest with a man on the moon.

That Glenn has excited and stimulated the nation to greater efforts was clear from the extremely enthusiastic greeting given him by the President, Congress, the Supreme Court, and people lining the streets for Monday's big Washington welcome.

The two giants in this contest in space and national prestige could accomplish a lot more if they pooled their space efforts. President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev said pooling is a fine idea.

But both sides will have had time to build bicycle factories on the moon before they ever agree to cooperate if they have as much trouble agreeing on this as they have had on disarmament and nuclear testing.

Patrolman Passes Exam To Be Lawyer

BALDWIN, N. Y. (AP)—Nassau County patrolman Walter R. Henesy is a devoted father to a family that soon will number a dozen children. But he hasn't had much time to enjoy the role.

For the past six years, he has been grinding away at his studies—going to bed late, arising early for his regular job and doing odd jobs on the weekend to pay for his education.

Now that's all in the past. He recently passed his bar examination and expects to be admitted to the bar in June.

The Brooklyn-born patrolman, now 42, grew up in Oceanside, N. Y. He had to leave high school to take a job to help support his family, which had 10 children.

After Army service in the China-Burma-India theater, he married his childhood sweetheart, Helen Maloney, and set about having the large family.

His bid to realize the dream of an education came after he joined the police force in 1949. First, he got his high school equivalency diploma, then attended Hofstra College by meshing it into his work schedule. Next he attended St. John's University Law School in New York City, again on a staggered schedule.

"It meant going into a room with the books and shutting your self off from the world," said Henesy, who earns $7,400 a year as a patrolman. He has no immediate plans for leaving the police force.

Ohio Idle List Dip Is 'Encouraging'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle says that new claims for unemployment have been dropping for five consecutive weeks.

"It is encouraging," he told newsmen. "It indicates we are beginning to go."

He said new claims for the week ending Feb. 17 totaled 16,619, compared with 19,808 for the previous week and 29,319 in a comparable week a year ago.

New and continuing claims for jobless benefits now total 172,941 compared to 264,659 for an average week in February a year ago, the governor reported.

DiSalle said he would take part in a celebration for astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., planned in his home town of New Concord for Saturday afternoon. The governor said he had received no word whether Glenn would accept an invitation by the Ohio Expositions Commission to attend a state dinner at the Fairgrounds here March 12 or 14.

The administration will wind up a series of eight seminars on state finances at the University of Akron Wednesday. DiSalle said a final seminar for nominees in the primary election would be held here during May. No date has been set.

No decision has been reached.

he said, on the request of Steubenville College for a seminar there. He added that Marietta and Chillicothe also have expressed interest in seminars there.

The governor asked Finance Director James H. Maloon to look into complaints about a contract with U.S. Steel Corp. to supply steel for 1963 motor vehicle license plates. DiSalle said the Pittsburgh-based firm submitted the only bid that met specifications for 2,400 tons of steel.

17-Year-Old Boys To Face Murder Rap

CLEVELAND (AP)—Murder warrants will be sought in juvenile court against two 17-year-old youths who have confessed to killing a service station attendant on the East Side eight days ago, Capt. David Kerr of the police homicide squad said Monday.

Kerr said James Sims and Morton Hollman would be charged Tuesday along with William Wells, 16, who will be charged with robbery. All are from Cleveland.

The trio was caught Friday night after Sims and Hollman were shot while attempting a beverage store holdup. Both are in the prison ward of Metropolitan General Hospital.

Sims and Hollman admitted participating in the slaying of William C. Beasley, 21, the gas station attendant. Kerr said along with the wounding of a barmaid, Mrs. Alexander Kulas, 35, during a tavern holdup on Feb. 16. She is recovering from bullet wounds.

He received telegrams of protest from Milton Wells of the Armco Employees Independent Federation and Robert A. White, president of the downtown division of the Middletown Area Chamber of Commerce.

Rep. Terry Drake, R-Crawford, also wrote a letter asserting that Ohio steel companies should have been favored.

"U.S. Steel can hardly be termed an out-of-state company," Di-

Salle said. "It has heavy employment in Ohio and is a heavy taxpayer in Ohio."

Republic Steel Corp. was another unsuccessful bidder for the contract.

Nuremberg, West Side Films Lead in Academy Nominations

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"West Side Story" and "Judgment at Nuremberg" took top honors in the Academy Award nominations today, with 11 mentions apiece.

The "Hustler" followed these two hard views of modern life with nine nominations.

It was youth versus maturity in the races for male star performances. Charles Boyer of "Fanny" and Spencer Tracy of "Judgment at Nuremberg" found themselves contending with three newcomers — Paul Newman for "The Hustler"; Maximilian Schell, "Judgment at Nuremberg"; and Stuart Whitman, "The Mark."

It was a youthful race all the way with the ladies:

Audrey Hepburn, "Breakfast at Tiffany's"; Piper Laurie, "The Hustler"; Sophia Loren, "Two Women"; Geraldine Page, "Summer and Smoke"; and Natalie Wood, "Splendor in the Grass."

"West Side Story," "Judgment at Nuremberg" and "The Hustler" were nominated for best picture of the year, along with two light-hearted amusements, "Fanny," and "Guns of Navarone."

Among the other major nominations:

Best supporting actor—George Chakiris, "West Side Story"; Montgomery Clift, "Judgment at Nuremberg"; Peter Falk, "Pocketful of Miracles"; Jackie Gleason, "The Hustler"; George C. Scott, "The Hustler."

Best supporting actress — Fay Bainter, "The Childrens Hour"; Judy Garland, "Judgment at Nuremberg"; Lotte Lenya, "The Roman Spring of Mrs. Stone"; Una Merkel, "Summer and Smoke"; Rita Moreno, "West Side Story."

Best direction—Lee Thompson, "The Guns of Navarone"; Robert Rossen, "The Hustler"; Stanley Kramer, "Judgment at Nuremberg"; Frederick Fellini, "La Dolce Vita"; Robert Wise and Jerome Robbins, "West Side Story."

Best song—"Moon River," from "Breakfast at Tiffany's"; and the title songs from "Bachelor in Paradise," "El Cid," "Pocketful of Miracles" and "Town Without Pity."

The nominations were voted by 2,500 members of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, who select final winners March 31. The 34th annual awards will be presented on a telecast April 9 at the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium.

Elderly Man Is Guest in Foster Home

NEW YORK (AP)—John Olsen, alone at 79, has found a fountain of youth through a relatively new twist on an idea that has given meaning to the lives of countless orphaned children.

He lives in a foster home for the elderly.

"This has been the life for me," Olsen said of the time he has spent in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Maxfield and their children in the Bronx.

"I am 79 and don't feel any different than when I was 20," he said. "They treat me like I was one of the family. The children call me Uncle John."

His was a situation typical of those of many of the nation's elderly. He had just been released from a hospital after suffering a broken hip. He had no immediate relatives. His hotel rent was $90 a month and his social security check only $78 a month.

Olsen was sent to his foster home through the Catholic Charities Family Service Department. Olsen told the New York Herald Tribune that it's the attitude of the Maxfield family that makes his foster home a happiness house.

"In some places they could keep you in the ice chest upstairs and only let you come down to eat. Now you take the two boys here—David (18) and Tommy (14)—they bought a big birthday cake for me when I was 79. The boys did this and gave me a party."

"All kidding aside," he added. "I'm in a pretty good spot."

The Maxfields receive $150 a month, with Olsen contributing his Social Security and the City Welfare Department making up the difference. Olsen also receives about $10 a month spending money from the city.

Olsen said he would take part in a celebration for astronaut John H. Glenn Jr., planned in his home town of New Concord for Saturday afternoon. The governor said he had received no word whether Glenn would accept an invitation by the Ohio Expositions Commission to attend a state dinner at the Fairgrounds here March 12 or 14.

The administration will wind up a series of eight seminars on state finances at the University of Akron Wednesday. DiSalle said a final seminar for nominees in the primary election would be held here during May. No date has been set.

No decision has been reached.

Ohio Idle List Dip Is 'Encouraging'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Michael V. DiSalle says that new claims for unemployment have been dropping for five consecutive weeks.

"It is encouraging," he told newsmen. "It indicates we are beginning to go."

He said new claims for the week ending Feb. 17 totaled 16,619, compared with 19,808 for the previous week and 29,319 in a comparable week a year ago.

New and continuing claims for jobless benefits now total 172,941 compared to 264,659 for an average week in February a year ago, the governor reported.

17-Year-Old Boys To Face Murder Rap

CLEVELAND (AP)—Murder warrants will be sought in juvenile court against two 17-year-old youths who have confessed to killing a service station attendant on the East Side eight days ago, Capt. David Kerr of the police homicide squad said Monday.

Kerr said James Sims and Morton Hollman would be charged Tuesday along with William Wells, 16, who will be charged with robbery. All are from Cleveland.

The trio was caught Friday night after Sims and Hollman were shot while attempting a beverage store holdup. Both are in the prison ward of Metropolitan General Hospital.

Sims and Hollman admitted participating in the slaying of William C. Beasley, 21, the gas station attendant, Kerr said along with the wounding of a barmaid, Mrs. Alexander Kulas, 35, during a tavern holdup on Feb. 16. She is recovering from bullet wounds.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Now that the nation has honored astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.—and itself through him—it had better get ready for some fresh jolts to its ego.

Glenn's journey gave the nation's morale a needed boost, since this country's prestige and self-confidence had been somewhat fractured by Soviet achievements in space. So his success was nationally shared.

It's a good bet new jolts will come from Russia which is still ahead in manned space shots, including Glenn's triple orbit.

The Russians not only put the first man into orbit, a once-around journey, but a second one went around 17 times.

It may be 1963 before the United States can orbit a man that often. This country hopes to fly five orbital missions this year, the last one to go the Russians one better with 18 orbits.

The United States has done better with satellites.

Although the Russians were the first to send a satellite around the earth—Sputnik I—this country has more than caught up with them in total numbers in the satellite field.

So far the United States has sent 63 scientific satellites into earth orbit and three around the sun. The Russians have put 13 satellites into earth orbit, two around the sun, and hit the moon with another.

As a result this country has collected far more scientific information about what goes on in space than the Russians.

Still, that first Sputnik, the first man-shot, and the first moon-shot got more attention and propaganda mileage than the more useful and numerous American satellites.

Since the Russians' last manned space shot with Maj. Gherman S. Titov was last August—when he orbited 17 times—they seem overdue for another sensation.

And, because they're ahead, it seems likely they would hit the moon with a man before the United States can. The Russians, who like space spectacles, would score their biggest with a man on the moon.

That Glenn was excited and stimulated the nation to greater efforts was clear from the extremely enthusiastic greeting given him by the President, Congress, the Supreme Court, and people lining the streets for Monday's big Washington welcome.

The two giants in this contest in space and national prestige could accomplish a lot more if they pooled their space efforts. President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev said pooling is a fine idea.

But both sides will have had time to build bicycle factories on the moon before they ever agree to cooperate if they have as much trouble agreeing on this as they have had on disarmament and nuclear testing.

Patrolman Passes Exam To Be Lawyer

BALDWIN, N. Y. (AP)—Nassau County patrolman Walter R. Henesy is a devoted father to a family that soon will number a dozen children. But he hasn't had much time to enjoy the role.

For the past six years, he has been grinding away at his studies—going to bed late, arising early for his regular job and doing odd jobs on the weekend to pay for his education.

Now that's all in the past. He recently passed his bar examination and expects to be admitted to the bar in June.

The Brooklyn-born patrolman, now 42, grew up in Oceanside, N. Y. He had to leave high school to take a job to help support his family, which had 10 children.

After Army service in the China-Burma-India theater, he married his childhood sweetheart, Ileen Maloney, and set about having the large family.

His bid to realize the dream of an education came after he joined the police force in 1949. First, he got his high school equivalency diploma, then attended Hofstra College by meshing it into his work schedule. Next he attended St. John's University Law School in New York City, again on a staggered schedule.

"It meant going into a room with the books and shutting yourself off from the world," said Henesy, who earns $7,400 a year as a patrolman. He has no immediate plans for leaving the police force.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

North winds dropped temperatures over Ohio during the night, and early morning readings today were considerable colder than Monday's.

Rain was general over the southern and central counties and is forecast to continue through Wednesday, occasionally mixed with freezing rain or sleet.

Temperatures will remain mostly in the 30s through Wednesday, but the northern counties will drop into the 20s tonight.

Preserving Man in Space

It is still premature in America's space efforts to be talking about a trip to the moon or some other distant body, but science is thinking about it. One of the more way-out activities now receiving thought in the laboratories is the problem of preserving man in journeys through space.

Some day man may wish to visit those stars he has been watching for centuries — for whatever reason — and if he does, it will be a mighty long trip. The nearest star which might have a planetary system similar to ours would take more than 100,000 years to reach.

Suspended animation induced by deep freeze is the answer science is suggesting.

Fantastic? It certainly is, but so was radio if anybody had thought such a thing possible in Columbus' day. Even more amazing is the advancement already made in deep - freeze techniques, more correctly called cryobiology, now in use in medicine and in laboratory biological studies.

High advanced refrigeration techniques, preserving matter indefinitely until needed, will find wide utilization in industry, medicine, agriculture, the home and retail businesses long before any real need arises in outer space. The latter venture may never become more than a stimulus to improve earthbound techniques.

Loose Family Ties Blamed

American Society of Criminology members have received a report on juvenile delinquency growth throughout the world which, while it does not place modern civilization in very good light behaviorwise, at least develops some insight into the economic and political causes of moral decay among any age group.

Those countries which have maintained strong parental ties — principally Spain, Portugal and Italy — have almost no signs of delinquency. At the other end of the survey Japan, which has witnessed disintegration of family unity in recent years, has also seen a rise in crime among young people.

There are many temptations today to look upon family discipline as something carried over from the dark ages, or be more exact perhaps it is the will to resist these temptations which has changed. One does not need to look to Europe or Asia, however, to see the effects of freedom unbridled by responsibility.

Airlines Show Gain

Just after the first of the year, U. S. airlines appealed to the federal government for permission to increase their fares. This was granted, on the basis of a 1961 earning record mostly in the red.

A few predictions were heard at the time that with economic conditions improving a fare boost might be unnecessary. Now comes evidence to bolster them.

A count of airline traffic in January shows that it was up a substantial 11.5 per cent over the same month in 1961. This was the sharpest gain in 24 months, though the upward trend has been pronounced since October of last year.

No figures on earnings are available. But the increase in business is justification for putting away the crying towels so much in evidences in airline offices several months ago.

Hail the Middle-Aged Hero!!

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—At last the country has what it long needed—a good middle-aged hero.

Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. fills the bill perfectly.

By orbiting the earth three times last week he did more than merely lift America's scientific prestige in the eyes of the rest of the globe.

He made every middle-aged man in the nation stand half a head taller—and feel like there after all.

Yes sir, Lt. Col. Glenn of the U. S. Marines made middle age downright respectable in a land which for too long has placed too much emphasis on the value of being young.

John Glenn has been dry behind the ears for some time now. He is 40, has acquired a few wrinkles, and shows considerable scalp.

If two weeks ago he had sought a new job, many firms would have automatically rejected him because of his age. Many have a policy against hiring men 40 or over. Such men are regarded as "too old."

Too old? At 40 John Glenn, who still conditions himself by running two miles a day, made the greatest leap into space of any American in history. He gave us all a badly needed lesson — that the judgment and skill which come with maturity are at least as important as the blind self-confidence and raw courage that go with youth.

Traditionally, from Alexander the Great to Romeo, we have tended to expect our heroes in both war and love to be young men. At least those who win renown by individual feats in action.

Even Thomas (Stonewall) Jackson, one of the most admired leaders of the Civil War, was dead at 39.

Sgt. Alvin C. York, the most publicized hero of the first World War, was a young man. In the second World War, Audie Murphy had won about every combat medal in the books before he was old enough to vote.

Perhaps because we still think of ourselves as a young people, the accent on youth has been almost as pronounced in peace as in war in this country. We have blindly venerated the young at the expense of the middle-aged and the elderly.

Thus parents come to stand in awe of their own children, and many of us begin to think that growing old is the worst of all diseases—if not a positive crime.

We cling desperately, and often ridiculously, to youth as though it were a salvation in itself—and all beyond it darkness. And the rest of the world sensibly laughs at us for this national obsession.

At 40, Glenn did more than prove himself. He opened a new vista of hope to millions of time-fearful men and women by showing them that achievement and heroism are not the property of youth, but are available at any age.

From now on any teen-ager who doesn't show proper respect to our years and gray hairs is likely to get himself bopped.

For in all us middle-aged there is a hero trying to get out—if he can only find the way.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—There will be few mourners when February departs. But in business circles there rarely are. About the kindest thing those in industry, transportation, trade or the stock market ever say about February is that it's uncertain.

And this year March promises to bring along a full bag of uncertainties, too.

Yet, measured by any other yardstick than high hopes, January and February haven't been too bad at all for business—whenever a few days of respite were slipped into the prolonged string of foul weather.

Economists who are trying to decide if the economy is still going ahead at a respectable pace or has been slowed to a walk or worse may have to wait until some of the March uncertainties are resolved.

The chief one is in Pittsburgh where contract talks between steel labor and management are progressing — unusually pleasantly, if you believe one source, and haltingly, if you believe another.

What terms are reached, and how soon, will tell a lot about the chances of 1962 still living up to the high hopes held for it last December in many quarters, chiefly official.

The steel talks could end with a modest wage boost and little or no price rise; or with a sizable price rise; or, worst of all, with a strike. Settlement could be reached quickly, nipping off the present tendency to build up stocks as a strike hedge; or it could be dragged out, setting off a real rush to stock up, that could only mean a big letdown later.

And until we know, it'll be hard to say what's ahead, since steel is still regarded by most of the public, at least, as basic to the economy, and its wage settlements as pattern-setting.

But meantime consumers have gone right on spending, when the weather lets them get to the stores. And factories in general have gone on producing at a good pace, if a little slower than in December. Consumers may be spending more of their money on services that make makers of appliances or builders of homes might like. But they are far from going on a strike. And the total amount they have to spend should get even larger when outdoor jobs open up again.

Try and Stop Me

THE INCOME TAX department gives authors a notoriously tough shake. Sometimes a man will labor ten years, without a penny of remuneration, on a novel. Then it is published, and if he's lucky, he sells book club rights, paperback rights, and movie rights all in one calendar year.

Grumbled the author of one such smash best-seller recently, "Yes, my book earned $800,000 for me last year—of which the Government took $760,000 in taxes—and is now suing me for the remaining $40,000!"

A tough teacher asked her third grade class to write a sentence beginning with the word "THAN." All but one of the kids was stymied. (Wouldn't YOU be?) The resourceful one's sentence read "THAN is a word with four letters."

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.

Why couldn't that special dietetic bread help her diabetes?

Because it was meant for people who have trouble with salt, not sugar!

Dietary habits die hard, and so do dietetic food counters have mushroomed. Here you can have your cake and eat it, too!

Diabetes - sufferer? Keep the sweet tooth habit with sugar-free candy and ice cream. Drool over artificially-sweetened water packed canned fruits. Saccharin or Sucaryl (R) (cyclamate) can sweeten like sugar.

Overweight? Melt away pounds with out tasty three-calorie salad dressing. Enjoy canned tuna packed in oil-free no-calorie water. Pickles, bread, pastry all come in low calorie packages.

If you can't tolerate salt (sodium), drink milk with 9-10 of the salt removed. It tastes just like the homogenized quart. Don't forget low salt bread and cookies, too.

Low calorie artificially - sweetened soda pop fits all three diets. You'll have to look hard to find any sugar, salt or calories in most bottles.

Allergic to wheat? Tickle your stomach with gluten-free bread and muffins — made with rice or soya flour!

All kinds of confusion crowds that dietetic counter when you don't read labels carefully. Make certain you buy only those items tailored to your need.

Compare each with the regular product. Does the difference warrant the expense? Why pay extra for low calorie bread if each slice saves only three calories?

Regular bread becomes "low calorie" when it's sliced thinner. "Hydrogenated" peanut butter doesn't look much like an anticholesterol unsaturated vegetable oil. Not unless you read the fine print which tells that only 2 per cent is hydrogenated.

Dietetic food counters will continue to mushroom as long as millions have to change — but can't change — their old eating habits. Dietetic — the most important ingredient in any dietetic food is the label!

No Monopoly on Brains

By George Sokolsky

The Russians always want to be first about everything, but now the burden of the proof is on them.

We opened every window. We showed every instrument at work. It is not necessary to send a Klaus Fuchs to find out what we do and how we do it. Stand in front of a television screen and look! It's a free show for all.

The Russians now want to pool knowledge. We always pool knowledge, Tovarisch! Maybe the American people are not too smart, but we do not like secrets. Since the end of World War II, the United States has been ready to agree upon a formula to pool atomic knowledge and to put it under the control and inspection of the United Nations. That was the Baruch Plan.

They thought we were failing. We seemed to muddle all over the place losing time in what seemed endless discussion as obscure people expressed their ideas and brought in blueprints.

We let everybody see our failures because we have a peculiar notion that there is no monopoly on brains, that sometimes the simplest man can solve the most complex problem. We recall that Thomas Edison never went to college; we know that Henry Ford was a mechanic.

And so, we let everybody take a try at things and bring in their plans and meet the cold face of a uniformed expert or sit in front of a banker who cannot understand why this fellow wants to borrow a million dollars when he ought to be holding a job at union pay. But in the end, we put the thing together and there is always a Lindbergh or a John Glenn who will risk his life for God and country.

All the world saw John Glenn's family — his father and mother, his wife and two children. There they were on the screen, modest, quiet folk who prayed to God that it all might go well but who knew what was happening. We had no secrets from them. The children knew every move that their

French investigators have reported that molds can control sheep hookworm.

Doom crabgrass the day you seed

One-day way to improve your lawn

It doesn't take hard work or expert skill to transform a frustrating lawn into a satisfying one. It doesn't even take a lot of time. In just one afternoon you can keep crabgrass from plaguing you again this year, and plant that better lawn you want. The answer to crabgrass is HALTS. It lies in wait, kills crabgrass as it spouts. Yet HALTS lets good grass sprout unharmed, so you can sow all-perennial Scotts seed the same day. Non-burning TURF BUILDER completes the job, gives new and established grass the protein-building nutrition it needs to thrive.

Preserving Man in Space

It is still premature in America's space efforts to be talking about a trip to the moon or some other distant body, but science is thinking about it. One of the more way-out activities now receiving thought in the laboratories is the problem of preserving man in journeys through space.

Some day man may wish to visit those stars he has been watching for centuries — for whatever reason — and if he does, it will be a mighty long trip. The nearest star which might have a planetary system similar to ours would take more than 100,000 years to reach.

Suspended animation induced by deep freeze is the answer science is suggesting.

Fantastic? It certainly is, but so was radio if anybody had thought such a thing possible in Columbus' day. Even more amazing is the advancement already made in deep - freeze techniques, more correctly called cryobiology, now in use in medicine and in laboratory biological studies.

High advanced refrigeration techniques, preserving matter indefinitely until needed, will find wide utilization in industry, medicine, agriculture, the home and retail businesses long before any real need arises in outer space. The latter venture may never become more than a stimulus to improve earthbound techniques.

Loose Family Ties Blamed

American Society of Criminology members have received a report on juvenile delinquency growth throughout the world which, while it does not place modern civilization in very good light behaviorwise, at least develops some insight into the economic and political causes of moral decay among any age group.

Those countries which have maintained strong parental ties — principally Spain, Portugal and Italy — have almost no signs of delinquency. At the other end of the survey Japan, which has witnessed disintegration of family unity in recent years, has also seen a rise in crime among young people.

There are many temptations today to look upon family discipline as something carried over from the dark ages, or be more exact perhaps it is the will to resist these temptations which has changed. One does not need to look to Europe or Asia, however, to see the effects of freedom unbridled by responsibility.

Airlines Show Gain

Just after the first of the year, U. S. airlines appealed to the federal government for permission to increase their fares. This was granted, on the basis of a 1961 earning record mostly in the red.

A few predictions were heard at the time that with economic conditions improving a fare boost might be unnecessary. Now comes evidence to bolster them. A count of airline traffic in January shows that it was up a substantial 11.5 per cent over the same month in 1961. This was the sharpest gain in 24 months, though the upward trend has been pronounced since October of last year.

No figures on earnings are available. But the increase in business is justification for putting away the crying towels so much in evidences in airline offices several months ago.

Hail the Middle-Aged Hero!!

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—At last the country has what it long needed—a good middle-aged hero.

Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. fills the bill perfectly.

By orbiting the earth three times last week he did more than merely lift America's scientific prestige in the eyes of the rest of the globe.

He made every middle-aged man in the nation stand half a head taller—and feel like there after all.

Yes sir, Lt. Col. Glenn of the U.S. Marines made middle age downright respectable in a land which for too long has placed too much emphasis on the value of being young.

John Glenn has been dry behind the ears for some time now. He is 40, has acquired a few wrinkles, and shows considerable scalp.

If two weeks ago he had sought a new job, many firms would have automatically rejected him because of his age. Many have a policy against hiring men 40 or over. Such men are regarded as "too old."

Too old? At 40 John Glenn, who still conditions himself by running two miles a day, made the greatest leap into space of any American in history. He gave us all a badly needed lesson — that the judgment and skill which come with maturity are at least as important as the blind self-confidence and raw courage that go with youth.

Traditionally, from Alexander the Great to Romeo, we have tended to expect our heroes in both war and love to be young men. At least those who win renown by individual feats in action.

Even Thomas (Stonewall) Jackson, one of the most admired leaders of the Civil War, was dead at 39.

Sgt. Alvin C. York, the most publicized hero of the first World War, was a young man. In the second World War, Audie Murphy had won about every combat medal in the books before he was old enough to vote.

Perhaps because we still think of ourselves as a young people, the accent on youth has been almost as pronounced in peace as in war in this country. We have blindly venerated the young at the expense of the middle-aged and the elderly.

Thus parents come to stand in awe of their own children, and many of us begin to think that growing old is the worst of all diseases—if not a positive crime. We cling desperately, and often ridiculously, to youth as though it were a salvation in itself—and all beyond it darkness. And the rest of the world sensibly laughs at us for this national obsession.

At 40, Glenn did more than prove himself. He opened a new vista of hope to millions of time-fearful men and women by showing them that achievement and heroism are not the property of youth, but are available at any age.

From now on any teenager who doesn't show proper respect to our years and gray hairs is likely to get himself bopped.

For in all us middle-aged there is a hero trying to get out—if he can only find the way.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—There will be few mourners when February departs. But in business circles there rarely are. About the kindest thing those in industry, transportation, trade or the stock market ever say about February is that it's uncertain.

And this year March promises to bring along a full bag of uncertainties, too.

Yet, measured by any other yardstick than high hopes, January and February haven't been too bad at all for business—whenever a few days of respite were slipped into the prolonged string of foul weather.

Economists who are trying to decide if the economy is still going ahead at a respectable pace or has been slowed to a walk or worse may have to wait until some of the March uncertainties are resolved.

The chief one is in Pittsburgh where contract talks between steel labor and management are progressing — unusually pleasantly, if you believe one source, and haltingly, if you believe another.

What terms are reached, and how soon, will tell a lot about the chances of 1962 still living up to the high hopes held for it last December in many quarters, chiefly official.

The steel talks could end with a modest wage boost and little or no price rise; or with a sizable price rise; or, worst of all, with a strike. Settlement could be reached quickly, nipping off the present tendency to build up stocks as a strike hedge; or it could be dragged out, setting off a real rush to stock up, that could only mean a big letdown later.

And until we know, it'll be hard to say what's ahead, since steel is still regarded by most of the public, at least, as basic to the economy, and its wage settlements as pattern-setting.

But meantime consumers have gone right on spending, when the weather lets them get to the stores. And factories in general have gone on producing at a good pace, if a little slower than in December. Consumers may be spending more of their money on services that some makers of appliances or builders of homes might like. But they are far from going on a strike. And the total amount they have to spend should get even larger when outdoor jobs open up again.

Try and Stop Me

THE INCOME TAX department gives authors a notoriously tough shake. Sometimes a man will labor ten years, without a penny of remuneration, on a novel. Then it is published, and if he's lucky, he sells book club rights, paperback rights, and movie rights all in one calendar year.

Grumbled the author of one such smash best-seller recently, "Yes, my book earned $800,000 for me last year—of which the Government took $760,000 in taxes—and is now suing me for the remaining $40,000!"

A tough teacher asked her third grade class to write a sentence beginning with the word "THAN." All but one of the kids was stymied. (Wouldn't YOU be?) The resourceful one's sentence read "THAN is a word with four letters."

Because it was meant for people who have trouble with salt, not sugar!

Dietary habits die hard, and so dietetic food counters have mushroomed. Here you can have your cake and eat it, too!

Diabetes - sufferer? Keep the sweet tooth habit with sugar-free candy and ice cream. Droll over artificially-sweetened water packed canned fruits. Saccharin or Suralin (R) (cyclamate) can sweeten like sugar.

No Monopoly on Brains

By George Sokolsky

The Russians always want to be first about everything, but now the burden of the proof is on them.

We opened every window. We showed every instrument at work. It is not necessary to send a Klaus Fuchs to find out what we do and how we do it. Stand in front of a television screen and look! It's a free show for all.

The Russians now want to pool knowledge. We always pool knowledge, too. Maybe the American people are not too smart, but we do not like secrets. Since the end of World War II, the United States has been ready to agree upon a formula to pool atomic knowledge and to put it under the control and inspection of the United Nations. That was the Baruch Plan.

They thought we were failing. We seemed to muddle all over the place losing time in what seemed endless discussion as obscure people expressed their ideas and brought in blueprints.

We let everybody see our failures because we have a peculiar notion that there is no monopoly on brains, that sometimes the simplest man can solve the most complex problem. We recall that Thomas Edison never went to college; we know that Henry Ford was a mechanic.

And so we let everybody take a try at things and bring in their plans and meet the cold face of a uniformed expert or sit in front of a banker who cannot understand why this fellow wants to borrow a million dollars when he ought to be holding a job at union pay. But in the end, we put the thing together and there is always a Lindbergh or a John Glenn who will risk his life for God and country.

All the world saw John Glenn's family — his father and mother, his wife and two children. There they were on the screen, modest, quiet folk who prayed to God that it all might go well but who knew what was happening. We had no secrets from them. The children knew every move that their

Following the business meeting, conducted by Mrs. H. P. Caldwell, the program will be presented by Mrs. Watt. She will demonstrate flower arranging and exhibit some completed arrangements.

Sometimes the core of cooked parsnips is woody and needs to be removed.

Preserves And Personality

Depth researchers would have us believe a woman's personality shows up in the preserves she serves and that it all started back in her mud pie days. We wouldn't know about that but it is a fact that some persons are endowed with creative ability whereas others have little or none.

If you are the creative type, you probably find it fun to serve something which causes family and friends to ask, "What makes it taste so good and so different?" Creative or not, add a gentle touch of ground ginger, pure vanilla or brandy flavoring to pear or peach preserves or use the recipe given below and your status as a preserve maker will zoom.

If you have to buy the peaches, better hurry and do your preserving while choice fruit is still on the market at reasonable prices.

Peach Preserves

with a touch of orange and mace

2 lbs. sliced peaches	1/2 teaspoon salt
1 orange	3 tablespoons lemon juice
2 cups water	3/4 teaspoon ground mace
2 lbs. sugar

Wash, rinse and drain peaches. Cut the thin yellow part of peel from orange; save a 2 inch strip of the yellow. Chop rest of orange; add the piece of yellow and cook in the 2 cups water until white peel is soft. Remove yellow piece; add sugar and salt. Cook until sugar dissolves; set aside to cool. Peel and slice peaches lengthwise. Add peaches, lemon juice (won't need if orange is quite tart), and mace to the orange syrup. Cook until peaches are "clear" and syrup about as thick as warm honey.

Pour preserves into shallow glass or enamelware pan. Cover and let stand in cool place 12 to 24 hours. Reheat until peaches are boiling hot. Quickly pour into hot pint fruit jars. Put lid on jar; screw band tight.

Note: The preserves may be canned as soon as cooked but quality is better if fruit is given time to plump before canning.

Local Junior Women's Club To Sponsor Sewing Contest

This year, fashion-conscious home economics students at Walnut, Ashville and Scioto Schools are planning to participate in the Student Division competition of the 1962 Fashion Sewing Contest sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs and Vogue Pattern Service.

The Circleville Junior Women's Club, working in cooperation with the school's home economics departments, will act as local sponsor for the student competition.

Each girl entering the contest will make what she considers the "Ideal Dress-Up Costume for the High School Student" — bringing to bear all her sewing skill and fashion knowledge in the hope of creating the winning entry. The local student winner will receive $5.00 in cash, and will be eligible to represent the Circleville Junior Women's Club and her high school at the District judging. The District winner can go on to compete for State and National honors. The grand prize at the National level being a $1,000 scholarship. Additional scholarships of $500 and $250 will be awarded to the National second and third prize winners, respectively.

The main purpose of this community-centered contest according to Mrs. Allan Berger, Contest Chairman, is to encourage young students to develop a deeper appreciation of homemaking skills. The satisfaction gained from creating her own wardrobe, from selecting an appropriate and becoming pattern, choosing practical yet fashionable fabrics, and using sewing skills to create her costume will provide an important experience in a teen-ager's learning and growing.

Appropriateness of the costume for a dress-up occasion, workmanship, fashion effect and becomingness to wear will all be considered in the judging. To illustrate the last points, students will have an opportunity to model their own costumes when the local judging takes place on March 1 at 8:00 p. m.

The local judges will be Mrs. Berman Wertman, a 4-H instructor, and Mrs. Mary Jane Funk, the Home Economics instructor at Jackson School.

During the business meeting members agreed to sponsor a bowling party for March 17, at Circle D Lanes.

It was announced that builders pins would be awarded members of the class who attended Sunday School for three consecutive months.

Those attending the party were: Virginia Puckett, Mary Gallion, Cindy Strous, Debbie Strous, Jon Anderson, John Imler, Jerry Smallwood and Mrs. Harry Betz, class advisor David W. Fouch Jr., was a guest.

Hostesses were Mary Gallion Virginia Puckett. Devotions were given by Debbie Strous and recreation was under the direction of Cindy Strous.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Debbie and Cindy Strous.

What size Chevrolet do you want to save money on?

CHEVROLET IMPALA Room, refinement and riding comfort. Foreground, the Impala Sport Sedan.

CORVAIR MONZA Sports Car spice without a sports car price. At rear is the Monza Club Coupe.

CHEVY II NOVA The frisky family-sized Chevrolet with a low, low price tag. Above right, Nova Sport Coupe.

Like your driving sporty, with quicksilver steering, flat-as-a-pancake cornering, sure-footed traction? Then a Corvaire Monza's for you.

Or maybe the new-size Chevy II is more to your liking. Built for big families and still slips neatly into small parking places. And, with this, the kind of ingenious engineering (new easy-riding Mono-Plate rear springs, for example) that won this year's coveted Car Life Magazine Award for Engineering Excellence.

But say you want to go all out—to get the full treatment in space, spirit and splendor. Then there's nothing like a Jet-smooth Chevrolet. Makes paying more pointless.

So size 'em up—then save it up—at your Chevrolet dealer's.

Sometimes the core of cooked parsnips is woody and needs to be removed.

Preserves And Personality

Depth researchers would have us believe a woman's personality shows up in the preserves she serves and that it all started back in her mud pie days. We wouldn't know about that but it is a fact that some persons are endowed with creative ability whereas others have little or none.

If you are the creative type, you probably find it fun to serve something which causes family and friends to ask, "What makes it taste so good and so different?" Creative or not, add a gentle touch of ground ginger, pure vanilla or brandy flavoring to pear or peach preserves or use the recipe given below and your status as a preserve maker will zoom.

If you have to buy the peaches, better hurry and do your preserving while choice fruit is still on the market at reasonable prices.

Peach Preserves

with a touch of orange and mace

2 lbs. sliced peaches	1/2 teaspoon salt
1 orange	3 tablespoons lemon juice
2 cups water	1/4 teaspoon ground mace
2 lbs. sugar

Wash, rinse and drain peaches. Cut the thin yellow part of peel from orange; save a 2 inch strip of the yellow. Chop rest of orange; add the piece of yellow and cook in the 2 cups water until white peel is soft. Remove yellow piece; add sugar and salt. Cook until sugar dissolves; set aside to cool. Peel and slice peaches lengthwise. Add peaches, lemon juice (won't need if orange is quite tart), and mace to the orange syrup. Cook until peaches are "clear" and syrup about as thick as warm honey.

Pour preserves into shallow glass or enamelware pan. Cover and let stand in cool place 12 to 24 hours. Reheat until peaches are boiling hot. Quickly pour into hot pint fruit jars. Put lid on jar; screw band tight.

Note: The preserves may be canned as soon as cooked but quality is better if fruit is given time to plump before canning.

Local Junior Women's Club To Sponsor Sewing Contest

This year, fashion-conscious home economics students at Walnut, Ashville and Scioto Schools are planning to participate in the Student Division competition of the 1962 Fashion Sewing Contest sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs and Vogue Pattern Service.

The Circleville Junior Women's Club, working in cooperation with the school's home economics departments, will act as local sponsor for the student competition.

Each girl entering the contest will make what she considers the "Ideal Dress-Up Costume for the High School Student" — bringing to bear all her sewing skill and fashion knowledge in the hope of creating the winning entry. The local student winner will receive $5.00 in cash, and will be eligible to represent the Circleville Junior Women's Club and her high school at the District judging. The District winner can go on to compete for State and National honors. The grand prize at the National level being a $1,000 scholarship. Additional scholarships of $500 and $250 will be awarded to the National second and third prize winners, respectively.

The main purpose of this community-centered contest according to Mrs. Allan Berger, Contest Chairman, is to encourage young students to develop a deeper appreciation of homemaking skills. The satisfaction gained from creating her own wardrobe, from selecting an appropriate and becoming pattern, choosing practical yet fashionable fabrics, and using sewing skills to create her costume will provide an important experience in a teen-ager's learning and growing.

A dessert course was served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. Dudleson assisted by her daughter, Melanie.

Appropriateness of the costume for a dress-up occasions, workmanship, fashion effect and becomingness to wear will all be considered in the judging. To illustrate the last points, students will have an opportunity to model their own costumes when the local judging takes place on March 1 at 8:00 p. m.

The local judges will be Mrs. Berman Wertman, a 4-H instructor, and Mrs. Mary Jane Funk, the Home Economics instructor at Jackson School.

New Zealander Youngsters Start Riding at Early Age

A New Zealand teen-ager and her pony take on obstacle with ease at one of the club competitions.

By CHARLES R. MEYER
Written Especially for Central Press and This Newspaper

In a country where everyone seems to live and breathe outdoor participant sports, New Zealanders start their youngsters riding horseback soon as the kids are able to climb into the saddle. By the time they've grown into the stirrups, in their early teens, "Kiwi kids" often join a pony club and start competing in the ring and over the jumps.

In an island approximately 800 miles in length, there are about 90 functioning clubs with thousands of members. The Franklin Club alone has 700 — other clubs more.

Each member is expected to supply his own pony and equipment, practice between rallies and contribute an annual overall subscription rate of $1.40 (10 shillings). These dues include insurance coverage with Lloyds of London as well as paying for routine maintenance and the coveted ribbons given to champions in the various equitation events.

Basic objects of the pony club movement are to teach children the care and love of animals, an appreciation of the outdoors, horsemanship, and to instruct their pets in obedience and good manners.

Since New Zealand is basically an agriculture country, green with pasture lands and rolling sheep paddocks, horses as well as children to ride them are common.

monplace parts of the landscape. With the advent of the pony clubs, the horses are more plentiful and the youngsters more interested in riding them correctly.

Most Americans regard the South Pacific as an area bounded by Polynesian Tahiti on one side and Oriental Japan on the other—seldom remembering that English-speaking, sports-loving places like New Zealand exist. Recently, at an international rally of pony club riders in Australia, riders from the Pebble Beach Club of California not only made the acquaintance of the Kiwis, but were soundly trounced by them.

Driving a rental car from the city of Auckland toward the famed trout fishing pools of the Tongariro River, we passed a makeshift county ring where the Harrisville branch of the Franklin Pony Club was holding its fortnightly rally. It was jump time — and these New Zealand girls and boys came at the hurdles with an enormous amount of determination tempered by their mounts' past experience.

Some of the horses simply wouldn't take to the air. Others balked close in, one throwing its teen-aged rider. The girl simply climbed back aboard and tried again, succeeding on the second time around.

When all the fuss and fury died away, when all the blue ribbons had been awarded and a few losers consoled, the youngster gathered in groups and gossiped about the events of the rally—criticizing a few of the judges' choices.

All of which goes to prove that New Zealand Pony Club horsemen are the same as Long Island steeplechasers or Philadelphia fox hunters—they compete for the love of the sport, but sometimes have more fun over the recapitulation later on.

Dear Abby: by Abigail Van Buren

Try for That 'Honeymoon'

DEAR ABBY: We are a "mid-die-aged" couple who have just finished raising a large family. My husband's earning power has been low, so it has been a struggle. We have looked forward to doing things together with new-found freedom from raising a family. We've put a little savings away, too. Now I find that one of my married daughters is having serious trouble with her husband. They were married 10 years. She says life with him is intolerable for her and her three children. She wants to come "home" to me. How can I turn my back on my own child now? Yet I can't face having a household again. Abby, my husband and I are still waiting for that honeymoon we never had. It looks like we'll have to start all over again and I'm so mixed up and tired. Help me.

inquire about your plans with Howie that you plan to grow up first and so does Howie.

DEAR ABBY: I am 19 years old. Yesterday I shoveled our sidewalk. I had plenty of time so I shoveled the sidewalk in front of the house next door. Two old people live there. He is crippled and she sort of waits on him. The lady came out and shoved a dollar in my pocket. I really didn't want to keep it because they don't have much and besides I wanted to do it for nothing. She started to yell at me when I tried to give the dollar back so I kept it. I still feel bad about it. Should I knock on their door and try to give the dollar back?

ILLINOIS BOY
DEAR ABBY: I am 19 years old. They enjoyed giving it to you and would be very hurt if you tried to return it. Yours was a lovely deed, young man. Continue to help those who can't help themselves. The satisfaction is more rewarding than money.

Still worrying about the same old problem? Write to Abby for a personal reply. Enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope. Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Dilly of a Guard

HEREFORD, England (AP) - Parading outside a little white-washed cottage in the nearby hamlet of Lower Egleton is Dilly - probably the most unusual "house guard" in Britain.

Dilly, now in her 18th year and blind from birth, is a Khaki Campbell duck.

For 17 years, she has maintained a guard over the house of her owners, Miss Winifred Evans, a seamstress and Miss Elizabeth Burnett, a retired school teacher.

Blindness is no handicap to Dilly. When strangers appear at the cottage gate, she promptly issues a challenge with a series of high-pitched quacks and a violent flapping of wings.

If the visitor does not halt, she attacks.

For familiar friends such as the postman, newsboy and milk woman Dilly's quack is less strident. She recognizes them by their footsteps and voices.

"There never has been any question of Dilly ending her days in the oven," says Miss Burnett. She's a perfect guard despite her blindness."

The present-day Army enlisted man receives 65 items of personal clothing worth some $150.

Teamster Union Dues Are Released by Judge

CINCINNATI (AP) - A temporary order enjoining Taxicabs of Cincinnati, Inc., for paying collected union dues to the International Teamsters Union has been dissolved.

Common Pleas Court Judge Charles S. Bell dissolved the order Monday after being told the Teamsters regained representation rights over the company's employees in a National Labor Relations Board supervised election.

Gubernatorial Aspirants Speak before Dem Leaders

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's Democratic gubernatorial aspirants headed a list of 32 of that party's candidates for state office who appeared here Monday night at a Democratic meeting.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle and Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy, who was the first to enter the governor race, parried with verbal swords as each of the candidates spoke briefly before the meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee and county chairmen.

McElroy, who has been endorsed by the party's Cuyahoga County committee, asked: "Do you want four years of state Democratic leadership that has demonstrated its inability to develop cooperation with the strongest Democratic area in the state of Ohio — the area where statewide candidates can win or lose by the majorities involved?"

DiSalle, however, in his turn at the speakers platform, emphasized that in the 1958 primary battle he lost Hamilton, Franklin, Mahoning and Cuyahoga counties but swept to victory in the general election.

After reviewing his record, the governor said: "It is easy to criticize. It is easy to be personal in attacks. It is easy to question the sincerity of a person. It is easy to say a person is indecisive, but the record is here to examine."

Earlier, McElroy had chided the governor for what the attorney general called indecision on whether to run for reelection.

On Oct. 20, 1961, DiSalle announced he would not run and stood pat on that decision until Jan. 12 when he entered the race.

"The easy way out for me would have been to bow out of the race for governor and file for attorney general," McElroy asserted. "This would, however, have found me guilty of the same 'indecision' that marked the governor's conduct."

McElroy announced his intentions Nov. 22. "If I didn't feel that the nomination of my opponent (DiSalle) spelled defeat for the entire ticket, I would be happily running for attorney general today without opposition," McElroy said.

25 Refugee Families Due In Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — Twenty-five Cuban refugee families were expected to arrive at Cleveland Hopkins airport today in the first class resettlement of refugees from Miami, Fla. About 100,000 refugees are jamming the Miami area, and soe 2,000 are arriving each week.

Church World Service, an agency of the National Council of Churches, hopes the idea will catch on with other cities in the country.

Working with Church World Service, the Cleveland Cuban Refugee Resettlement Committee is arranging for sponsors to help the new arrivals find jobs and get settled in their new lives.

However, there has been some opposition to bringing their refugees here. Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze says there are "many unemployed here at the present time. If jobs are available, I should think they'd be given to Clevelanders first."

Two of the couples coming to Cleveland already have children in Ohio. Alfonso Isla Penaranda, an accountant, and his wife, Margarita, sent their boys, Alfonso 11, and Octavio, 8, to Canton last year. The boys are living with Mr. and Mrs. Ray M. Richards.

Benigno Juan Bocanegra, also an accountant, and his wife, Petra Marie, also have children in Ohio. Their daughters, Caridad, 7, and Josefina, 6, were sent out of Cuba first and they are at St. John Villa, Carrollton.

4 Are Killed In Murder, Suicide Spree

WOODSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Richard Leasure, 40, wanted his estranged wife to accompany him to Florida. Her refusal touched off a shooting spree by Leasure Monday in which four persons, including Leasure and his wife, were killed.

Authorities ruled the shooting at the home of Mrs. Leasure's parents in nearby Marr a triple murder and suicide.

Sheriff Francis Sulsberger gave this account:

Leasure came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Osborn, where his wife, June, 32, had been living in hopes of a reconciliation. When the woman refused to go with her husband, Leasure went to his car and brought back a .38 caliber revolver.

Frank Osborn, 52, became the first victim when Leasure shot him down in the kitchen.

Mrs. Osborn dashed upstairs and Leasure fired a shot at her which missed.

A neighbor, Mrs. Hazel Gardner, 32, ran into the backyard but was killed when she was struck by two bullets.

Leasure then found his wife hiding in a closet. He dragged her to the front porch and shot her once. She struggled free and ran about 100 feet before being killed by two more bullets.

Leasure went to the body of his wife and then shot himself.

The couple were the parents of five children, ranging in age from 7 to 15. Mrs. Gardner was the mother of four.

Authorities were summoned by Mrs. Osborn after Leasure was dead.

Civil Defense recommends a two week supply of food for home

Local Democrats Attend Dinner

Five Pickaway County Democrats attended a Meet the Candidates Dinner in the main ballroom of the Deshler Hilton Hotel last night in Columbus.

The buffet dinner and meeting was sponsored by the Ohio Democratic Executive Committee with the 38 candidates for party nominations and members of state and county committees as guests.

Attending from Pickaway County were Kenneth Shepler, chairman of the local Democrat Executive committee; Mrs. Betty McGinnis, secretary of the committee; Frank Marion, chairman of the central committee; Mrs. Doris Siniff, secretary of the central committee; and Mrs. Martha Purcell, president of the local Democratic Women's Club.

Postman Looked Twice

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A clue for a Girl Scouts' treasure hunt was left in the mail box at a home in the Point Loma section of San Diego.

The postman got there before the girls. After a bit, he rang the door bell and told the lady of the house: "I've looked under the tree and under the big rock, but I couldn't find anything. Was it a letter you wanted mailed?"

shelters, plus a three day survival kit in the family car. In planning a two weeks supply of food, bear these things in mind:

(1) Select foods that are familiar to your family and which may be preserved without refrigeration; (2) Remember infants, invalids and our elders; (3) Select food that can be served without cooking; (4) Pick cans and packages of a size suitable to family's needs for one meal, this prevents spoilage and offers greater daily variety.

(5) Keep all foods in their original containers; (6) Store your food in a cool dry place; (7) Rotate supplies on your shelf. Replace each item as used; (8) Include food seasonings; (9) Avoid salty foods for they increase your consumption of drinking water.

When planning shelters the following equipment is necessary for cooking: a gasoline camp stove with gasoline or canned heat stove coal burner with extra charcoal, skillet, sauce pan, can opener, knife, thermos jug or covered pail utensils as desired — plates, cups and silver.

AFTER a nuclear attack the contents of cans, jars, cartons, and other food packages that have not been broken or punctured will likely be uncontaminated. Food that has been stored in closed cupboards in covered containers or sealed cartons, should be safe to use after an attack.

Uncovered foods exposed to fallout dust will be contaminated. After an attack eat the perishable foods first if they have not been contaminated.

Bread is edible even when moldy, sour milk is drinkable. Fruits and vegetables with "rotten" spots cut out are safe to eat. If they have been exposed to fallout, wipe wash and peel them, disposing of wash water and peeling outside the shelter. Throw out canned foods if bubbles appear in the juices even though they smell all right.

Don't eat produce from your garden after a nuclear attack until the neighborhood has been declared free of contamination.

If there is a possibility cooking and eating utensils including tableware have been exposed to radioactive particles they should be scrubbed with soap and water. If the water supply has been cut off, wash only the utensils needed for use.

Home freezer units will keep frozen foods for about 36 hours after they are shut off.

Official instructions regarding food will be issued locally by Civil Defense authorities in the event of a nuclear attack.

Next: Sanitation under Emergency.

AFTER a nuclear attack the contents of cans, jars, cartons, and other food packages that have not been broken or punctured will likely be uncontaminated. Food that has been stored in closed cupboards in covered containers or sealed cartons, should be safe to use after an attack.

Uncovered foods exposed to fallout dust will be contaminated. After an attack eat the perishable foods first if they have not been contaminated.

Bread is edible even when moldy, sour milk is drinkable. Fruits and vegetables with "rotten" spots cut out are safe to eat. If they have been exposed to fallout, wipe wash and peel them, disposing of wash water and peeling outside the shelter. Throw out canned foods if bubbles appear in the juices even though they smell all right.

Don't eat produce from your garden after a nuclear attack until the neighborhood has been declared free of contamination.

If there is a possibility cooking and eating utensils including tableware have been exposed to radioactive particles they should be scrubbed with soap and water. If the water supply has been cut off, wash only the utensils needed for use.

Home freezer units will keep frozen foods for about 36 hours after they are shut off.

Official instructions regarding food will be issued locally by Civil Defense authorities in the event of a nuclear attack.

Next: Sanitation under Emergency.

Yankees Sign M&M Tandem

Cash, Colavito, Cepeda Still Rated Holdouts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Now that the Yankees have the M&M tandem neatly under contract, the major league signing spotlight can swing to C. C. & C.

Roger Maris' decision to sign with the Yankees for $72,000 (joining Mickey Mantle, who long ago settled with pleasure for an $82,000 contract) left baseball with three key players to satisfy —Norm Cash and Rocky Colavito of the Detroit Tigers and Orlando Cepeda of the San Francisco Giants.

Ironically, each of the C's is included in the select company most think might challenge the record 61 home runs Maris clubbed last year to set himself up for the nearly 100 per cent raise he got from Yankee Gen. Mgr. Roy Hamey in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Monday.

Both Cash, who led the American League in hitting with a .361 average, and Colavito, who crashed 45 homers and drove in 140 runs, are working out informally with the Tigers at their Lakeland, Fla., base. But Colavito particularly is being tough to deal with.

"I've reached the saturation point with Colavito," said Rick Ferrell, the Tiger vice president who handles the salary negotiations. Ferrell said he has countered Colavito's rejections with three increases without reaching the figure Rocky has in mind. Colavito reportedly wants at least a $15,000 raise to $50,000.

Cash, who out-hit Maris by nearly 100 points, slugged 41 home runs and drove in 132 runs.

Cepeda, who hit .311 and powered 46 home runs and drove in 142, wants the Giants to double his salary to $50,000.

Beside Maris, who will begin working out with the Yanks Wednesday, signers Monday included fiery Jim Piersall, for a reported salary of $45,000 with the Washington Senators; first baseman Joe Adcock and right-hander Bob Buhl with the Milwaukee Braves; infielder Billy Goodman with the Chicago White Sox; and outfielder Whitey Herzog with the Baltimore Orioles.

Lucas, 'Dish' Repeaters on All-Big Ten

CHICAGO (AP)—Led by Jerry Lucas of Ohio State and Terry Dischinger of Purdue The Associated Press' All-Big Ten basketball team of 1962 is a carbon copy of last year's selection with the exception of Indiana shooting star Jimmy Rayl.

Lucas and Dischinger, both All-Americans in 1961, made the All-Conference team for a third straight year while John Havlicek of Ohio State and Don Nelson of Iowa repeated from last season.

Rayl, who has been challenging Dischinger's rights to a third successive Big Ten scoring championship, took the place of Indiana's Walt Bellamy who graduated to the professional ranks where he is one of the game's top stars.

There is little to add to Lucas-Dischinger stories. Lucas was All-America as a sophomore, repeated as a junior and probably will be a unanimous choice this year.

Dischinger has established himself as one of the greatest scorers in Big Ten history and will graduate with a career record average of 29.5 points a game.

Havlicek, along with Lucas, is helping Ohio State win a third straight conference championship, while Nelson has often been called the greatest player who had the misfortune of coming along at the same time as Lucas and Dischinger.

The second team included Mel Nowell of Ohio State.

Among the honorable mentions were Buckeyes Dick Reasbeck and Doug McDonald.

CHS Sets Sights On Tourney Win

Circleville's basketball cagers, with a thrilling tournament victory over North High School still fresh in their minds, go after a second tourney conquest when they meet Westerville tomorrow night in the second game of Central District tournament action at the Ohio State Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Westerville, a scrappy crew, sports an impressive season record of 14-3. Two of their losses came at the hands of undefeated Grove City, who scored a resounding 63-39 victory over Marion Franklin last night.

Bob Moreland, John Ruyan and Dick Lauer are all 6-2 men and have been outstanding rebounders for Westerville. The guards, Bill Barr, Duane Fisher and Gary Hall are relatively short at 5-foot-9 but are exceptionally aggressive and good defensive men.

The Westerville cagers play deliberate offensive basketball, controlling the ball until they get the good shots. On defense they utilize a man-to-man press.

COACH Jack Weikert feels that the Tigers are starting to jell offensively. The Red and Black has been hampered by illness and injuries throughout the latter part of the season.

Weikert says he has not had a complete turnout for practice during the last week. Sam Weller missed practice again last night, still suffering from a bad ankle and foot trouble.

However, he should be ready for action tomorrow night. If he isn't, Bob Waple, who has been coming on fast, will be ready to start in his place.

Dave Hannahs, Cleson Thomas and Weller have been doing outstanding defensive work on the boards for the Tigers, and should be able to maintain their pace.

Weikert feels his cagers have the potential to go places in the district tournament. The Tigers' mental attitude is good after their win Saturday. In going after a victory tomorrow night they are forgetting past records and concentrating on frustrating any tournament ambitions the Westerville team may have.

Westerville on the other hand will be out to get a measure of revenge on the Tigers. Last year Circleville knocked the Franklin Countians out of the tournament in the first game they played.

Circle D Downs Rainbow Keglers

The Circle D Juniors downed a team from Rainbow Lanes, Columbus, Sunday in a match game at Circle D Lanes.

The Circle D keggers shot team scores of 793, 947 and 878 for a total of 2,618. Ray Crawford led the Circle D group with a 570 series. Tim Houghton had high single game honors with a 233.

The Rainbow group shot games of 789, 916 and 820 for a total of 2,525. All scores were scratch.

O'Brien Retiring As Shotputter

LOS ANGELES (AP)—He has been hinting at it for some time and now Parry O'Brien has made it official: He is retiring from shot putting.

The 30-year-old former University of Southern California weight man said Monday he is giving up the shot but will maintain his amateur status and throw the discus in several meets this year.

O'Brien formerly held the outdoor mark of 63 feet, 4 inches for the shot and did 63-5 only to have Bill Nieder do 65-10 the same year (1960). O'Brien still holds the recognized indoor mark, 63-1 1/2, but Gary Gubner recently did 64-11 1/2.

Raulo Baeza, who rode Sherluck to an upset victory in the 1961 Belmont Stakes, calls that win his biggest thrill.

Three Teams Win Booster Loop Games

Top Hat-FOE edged the Circleville Swim Club, 57-55, Jackson defeated Deer Creek, 61-56, and the Williamsport Merchants outlasted Kippy Kit, 63-59, in the first round of the Booster Club League playoffs.

Top Hat - FOE rallied in the final frame to overcome a 47-44 third quarter deficit to win by two points.

Lockhard paced the Top Hat attack scoring 21 points on eight field goals and five foul shots. Ferguson contributed 17 on seven buckets from the field and three charity tosses, and Boysly added 12 points making good on six attempts from the field.

Brown of the swim club garnered high point honors for the game with a total of 24 points on ten shots from the field and four charity tosses.

THE Jackson Merchants led all the way in their 61-56 win over Deer Creek. Three men, Eitel, Salyers and Alexander, contributed 16 points each to the Jackson attack.

Pickelsimer of Deercreek was high man for the contest collecting 19 points on eight field goals and three charity tosses.

Williamsport outlasted Kippy Kit in a close battle which saw the score knotted 17-17 at the end of the first period, and 47-47 going into the final frame. The Williamsport Cagers scored 16 points in the last period to tie for Kippy Kit.

Jacobs scored 22 points for the winners to garner high point laurels for the contest. Pontius led the Kippy Kit attack with 20 points on nine field goals and two charity tosses.

Wednesday night Top Hat-FOE meets Jackson at 7 o'clock and Williamsport tangles with Asaville in the second game at the Armory. The winners of these two games battle on Thursday at 8 p. m. and on Friday The Scioto Elks.

Ballerinas Used In Big Chess Tilt

MOSCOW (AP)—Mikhail Botvinnik, the current world champion, and Vasil Smyslov, the ex-titleshielder, returned to their customary silent, serious chess matches today wondering if they had changed the whole approach to the game.

The two grand masters played a match Monday before a crowd of 15,000 in Moscow's indoor arena using shapely ballerinas as human pawns. Half were dressed in white, half in black and all wore bright red stockings. Others represented kings, queens and castles on the huge chess board which covered the floor.

Botvinnik and Smyslov solemnly went through the motions of the match. Each time one would decide on a move one of the ballet dancers would gracefully pirouette into position.

When it was all over, a draw was declared. Neither player was saying whether he enjoyed the experience.

Bronco Frsehmen Lose Tourney Tilt

The Ashville Freshman cagers lost to Piketon in tournament play at Chillicothe Friday night.

Mike Roof scored 29 points, ripping the nets for 12 buckets from the field and five charity tosses for the losers.

Phipps and Ward led the attack for the Piketon freshman scoring 22 and 21 respectively.

The young Broncos were down 21-7 at the end of the first period trailed by five 34-29 at halftime and 52-41 going into the final frame. Time ran out on the young Ashville squad ending a last quarter rally that pulled them within two points as the final buzzer sounded.

Booster Club League champs, will play the winners for the title.

ABL Division Race Is Getting Tighter

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

While Kansas City seems intent on making a runaway of the American Basketball League's Western Division race, the battle for first place in the East has turned into a game of musical chairs.

Kansas City's Steers whipped San Francisco 124-113 Monday night to open up a commanding 6 1/2-game cushion over the runner-up Saints.

The Chicago Majors, enjoying their trip to Hawaii, thrashed the Hawaii Chiefs 97-77 to break a three-way for first place in the Eastern Division. Chicago moved one-half game ahead of idle Pittsburgh and Cleveland with the three clubs taking turns at the top of the standings.

Michigan leads in Big Ten Swimming titles with 19. Ohio State is next with 12 championships.

Ring Career Lasts Only 14 Seconds

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph (Ace) Falu was a professional prize fighter for just 14 seconds. "All I wanted to do," said the 22-year-old Puerto Rican middle-weight today, "was to have a few fights. I didn't want to be a champion. I'm a business man."

Falu's lightning career started and ended Monday night in St. Nicholas Arena when he was knocked out by Norman Cassaberry of Brooklyn in 14 seconds of the first round of a scheduled four-round preliminary.

Not since St. Nick's opened its doors in 1902 has a fighter gone down faster than Falu.

But it wasn't all his fault. Just as the bell rang, Falu, an ex-Golden Glover, came out to the middle of the ring and put his glove out to shake Cassaberry's hand.

Wham! Cassaberry, who had three fights behind him, fired a left-right combination to Ace's chin and down he went. Referee George Coyle tolled up to seven and Ace staggered to his feet. Coyle took one look at him and pronounced Cassaberry the winner.

The fastest knockout on record came Sept. 2, 1952, when Bob Robert, a welterweight, stopped Teddy Barker in 10 seconds of the first round at Maestag, Wales.

Kennedy Sends Health Plan To Congress

Besides standing ready to pay for the shots of some 25 million tots under five, Kennedy said, the government would make matching grants to help finance local administrative and operating costs.

The administration bill, he said, also will contain authority for vaccinations against any other disease for which vaccines may be developed. There are hopes for a measles vaccine.

Kennedy renewed his request of three weeks ago for a 10-year program of federal matching grants for the building of 40 new medical and dental colleges and the granting of four-year scholarships to thousands of needy medical students.

But the No. 1 item on today's list was what Kennedy termed the "gap in our self-financed, contributory social insurance system"—hospital, nursing home, clinical and visiting nurse care for all men and women of 65 or more who are eligible for Social Security benefits.

His chances have not been rated high this session. But administration officials professed to see hope that increasing pressure from voters would bring action before Congress members go home to face the voters next fall.

Kennedy hit at both the favorite arguments of his opponents—that the plan would lead to "socialized medicine" and that private health plans can meet the need.

"Today, only about half of our aged population has any health insurance of any kind—and most of these have insufficient coverage," Kennedy said.

"This program of course would not interfere in any way with the freedom of choice of doctor, hospital or nurse. It would not specify in any way the kind of medical or health care or treatment to be provided," he added.

The increased Social Security costs, under Kennedy's plan, have been estimated at $1.06 billion in the first year after the start of the health benefits on Oct. 1, 1963.

This would be more than covered by an increase in the Social Security tax of 1/4 of 1 per cent each on employers and wage earners on Jan. 1, 1963. That tax is now 3 1/2 per cent but is scheduled to rise—irrespective of the health plan—to 3 3/4 per cent next January 1. The two boosts would bring the tax to 3 7/8 per cent, and it would be levied—if Congress approves the health bill—on the first $5,200 of income instead of the first $4,800.

More Rainfall Expected To Swell River

CINCINNATI (AP)—With the prospect of more rain in the greater Cincinnati area tonight, the Weather Bureau has revised its predicted crest for the Ohio River.

A Weather Bureau spokesman said the tentative crest will be 50 to 51 feet some time Thursday. This would be one to two feet below flood stage.

The Ohio and its tributaries rose rapidly Monday night because of heavy rains upstream. The Ohio was expected to reach 45.5 feet at 7 a.m. today.

Meanwhile, the flood threat on the Great and Little Miami rivers and the Licking River in Northern Kentucky apparently passed Monday when all three crested and began to recede.

The Great Miami, at 18.2 feet, was almost two feet over the flood damage mark and forced the evacuation of 25 riverside cottages between Miamitown and Clevelands.

The Little Miami crested at 16.7 feet at Perintown and the Licking at 24 feet at Falmouth, Ky.—both well below flood stage.

FIDEL BACK ON THE SCENE—With no explanation of his 13-day absence from the public eye, Cuban Premier Fidel Castro attended an amateur baseball game in Havana. Rumors had him in Moscow, in exile, in prison, etc.

Outline Presented On Urban Renewal

The general concept of Urban Renewal operations was explained to 12 Circleville officials and citizens yesterday by Stanley L. Heronemus, field representative for the Federal Urban Renewal Agency.

Heronemus, from the Urban Renewal Agency's Chicago office, outlined the UR program during a three-hour meeting. The session was conducted in City Hall.

The field representative emphasized the vast amount of pre-planning which usually precedes efforts to initiate an Urban Renewal program in various localities. It was pointed out that many of the steps are merely progressive measures communities would take regardless of whether they were seeking federal backing.

The federal official noted that a community should be organized in a joint effort prior to and during all contemplated improvement stages. He asserted that proper legislation should be enacted in the way of zoning and building ordinanances and that detailed planning is needed.

HERONEMUS described the division of costs to the community and government. One plan calls for the government to provide two-thirds of financing and the community one-third.

It was explained that Urban Renewal is basically a process by which individual communities, through locally conceived, planned and executed projects, upgrade themselves by eliminating sub-standard areas, checking blight and redesigning outmoded physical patterns.

The local group learned that Urban Renewal begins with the community itself. It is locally initiated, planned and administered.

The Federal Government helps eligible communities only upon request. A practical working partnership evolves among the local government, the Federal and the individual citizen. Each step is based upon local action and local skills.

According to the Urban Renewal program, the end result is the elimination of substandard housing and the opportunity for families to purchase or rent decent, safe and sanitary housing within their income means. It also designates the re-creation of downtown values and the revitalization of the central cores of communities.

The UR concept notes that public housing and Urban Renewal are two distinct programs, each of which is administered by a different office, although both are under the same federal branch.

ATTENDING yesterday's session were Mayor Richard Penn, Councilmen Joe Bell and Boyd Horn, Chamber of Commerce President Charles Schieber, Chamber Secretary Mrs. E. R. Bennett, Ludwig Haecker of the City Planning and Zoning unit, Rep. Ed Wallace, Utilities Director Ervin Leist, Fire Chief Talmer Wise, Douglas Cotterman of Ohio Fuel Gas and Howard Smith and J. Boyd Stout, local businessmen.

Mayor Penn said additional UR study will be made on a local level. He said another public meeting on the general phases of the program may be scheduled in the future.

Euclid Judge To Fight Blue Law Decision

CLEVELAND (AP)—Euclid Municipal Court Judge William F. Burns, whose order concerning enforcement of that suburb's Sunday closing ordinance has been set aside by the Court of Appeals, says he will hire his own attorney to fight the appeals court ruling.

Burns appeared before the 8th District Court of Appeals Monday and was denied his request to have an attorney appointed by the court.

The court "said there was nothing in the law that would give them that authority," Judge Burns said in a statement Monday night. "Therefore I am left with the choice to drop this matter or to engage my own attorney. I have elected to fight this at my own expense because I am right, and I intend to fight this right to the top court of the land."

The judge had ordered Euclid police to suspend enforcement of the closing ordinance against Stevenson's Delicatessen pending the owner's trial on earlier charges.

That order was set aside temporarily by the appeals court at the request of Euclid Law Director John F. Ray Jr. and Police Prosecutor Robert L. Steele. Burns now is defending his stand against an order making the appeals court injunction permanent.

Liquor Aide's Firing Detailed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Liquor Director George R. Dick, who last week said he fired his assistant, Lee H. Shapiro, in the "best interests of the state of Ohio," got down to the particulars Monday.

Dick said one reason Shapiro was fired was the Cincinnati purchase of liquor which had previously been delisted because of small sales. The brand was ordered removed from the shelves last October, Dick said. The inventory on hand was sold at reduced prices. Shapiro allegedly ordered 346 more cases.

Dick said another factor was Shapiro's attempt to gain a promotion for Willard Howard, Cincinnati liquor store manager under investigation for reportedly managing a now-closed night club. Dick said the promotion request came through Feb. 6 even though an audit of the store's finances had been ordered.

Unions Chide Labor Aide

BAL MARBOUR, Fla. (AP)—The AFL-CIO midwinter meeting has adjourned on a note of disagreement with Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg.

Union President George Meany told a news conference at the end of the week long session that Goldberg's stand "seems to be that the federal government has the right to say what each side shall do" in collective bargaining activities.

Meany referred to a Chicago speech in which he said Goldberg advocated increasing the federal government's intervention role in labor disputes.

"The government's role should be confined to conciliation and mediation," Meany declared.

Kiwanis Club Hears Facts On Scioto Conservancy Plan

Members of the Circleville Kiwanis Club heard a factual description of the functioning of the Scioto Conservancy District during a regular meeting at the Meca Restaurant last night.

Presenting the interesting address was Richard Midden, secretary-treasurer for the recently formed Conservancy District. His talk was entitled "A New Valley."

Midden explained the aims of the Conservancy District and the steps that have been taken to develop the Scioto River Basin.

He listed three goals of the "New Valley" as: 1. attract new industry to the basin on a flood-free basis; 2. provide recreational facilities for an ever increasing population; 3. assure farmers of the district crops free from the danger of rampaging flood waters.

THE SPEAKER explained the

Two Tourney Games Played At Kingston

The Chillicothe Merchants overwhelmed the Kingston Blacks, 110-41, in the first round of the Kingston Independent Basketball Tournament last night. Marathon Distributors led all the way in defeating the Kingston Reds 63-51.

In the high scoring tilt between Chillicothe and the Blacks, the Merchants experienced little difficulty. Herbst sizeled the nets for 31 points, Dearth scored 24, Neff dropped in 22 and Hall hit 19 to top the scoring for the winners.

Pontius paced the losers with 15.

Marathon displayed a balanced offense in their win over the Kingston Red. Four players hit for double figures — Davidson 16, Harrison 14, Dearth 13, Hinton 11 — to win for the Distributors.

CARMEAN paced the losers' attack with 24 points on ten field goals and four charity tosses.

The next scheduled games in the tourney will be tonight, Commercial Point tangles with Kings-on Green at 7 p. m., Scioto Elks meet Chillicothe Window Cleaners in the second tilt and Kingston Gold plays Yellowbud in the finale.

structure of the Conservancy District and the reasons why it was organized. He listed governing bodies as the Board of Directors, the Board of Appraisors and the Conservancy Court.

The Conservancy Court consists of the common pleas court judges of the counties making up the district. Included in the Scioto District are Pickaway, Franklin, Ross, Pike and Scioto Counties.

Midden's talk included a run-down on how the three governing bodies act as a balance in bringing the eventual goals of the district into being. He said an official plan, to be completed by fall through the joint efforts of the Board of Directors and the Board of Appraisors, will be submitted to the Conservancy Court for study.

According to the conservancy structure the directors form the plan to solve the problems at hand and the appraisors determine the benefits to be derived.

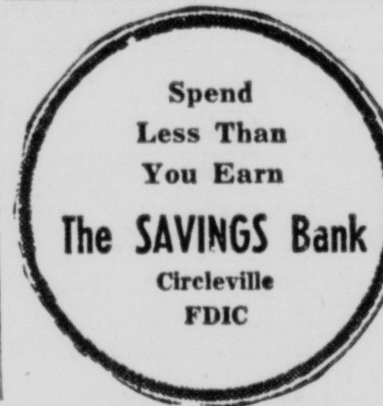

Midden explained that the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers has completed a comprehensive study of the Scioto River Basin with a favorable outlook for contemplated reservoirs in Pickaway, Franklin and Ross Counties.

A present effort has been devoted to obtaining pre-construction appropriations from the U. S. Congress. However, Midden said, it is possible the Scioto projects can be completed under district financing.

MIDDEN'S talk here was arranged by John H. Dunlap Jr., Route 1, Williamsport, a member of the three-man Conservancy District Board of Directors.

New Clothing Center Plan Is Successful

The Needy Family Clothing Distribution Center, located at the Veterans Apartments, W. High St., will be open on Fridays from 9 a. m. until noon, Ralph Starkey, announced today.

The center has already provided clothing for 126 children in the Circleville area during the two Friday mornings it was open, Starkey reported.

The center was established here following a generous response to a clothing drive for a family who lost all clothing and household goods in a fire.

Surplus clothing was sorted and placed on racks in a storage room at the Veterans Apartment Building by volunteer workers under the supervision of Starkey and the Child Welfare and County Relief Departments.

STARKEY said today a county-wide clothing drive for the center will be conducted in April. The Circleville Jaycees will assist in the collection.

However, Starkey said, there is a present need for girls' school dresses and trousers for small boys. He said a pickup service is offered for those who desire to make contributions. Donors may call GR 4-3950 for the pickup service.

This is a Ford Fairlane door latch. There is no other door latch like it. It combines the strength of a bear hug with the precision of a surgeon's fingers. Its action is supple, its sound is solid. Like the 12-month or 12,000-mile warranty* first introduced by Ford, it is undeniable proof of the superb quality built into every Ford car. It may surprise you to find quality so high in a car that's priced as low as the Fairlane (actually under many compacts), but there are many surprises in this newest of automobiles. The fact is, you won't find any new car that gives you Fairlane's big-car room, choice of V-8 zoom and fine-car quality anywhere near Fairlane's surprisingly low price. There's no other new car that combines so beautifully all you ever wanted from a big car—with handling and economy compacts could envy. As a matter of fact, there's never been a buy like Fairlane because there's never been a car like Fairlane—and that's why this all-new car from Ford is now outselling every other "new-size" car. Which is as it should be. After all, how can you beat an unbeatable combination?

Kennedy Sends Health Plan To Congress

Besides standing ready to pay for the shots of some 25 million tots under five, Kennedy said, the government would make matching grants to help finance local administrative and operating costs.

The administration bill, he said, also will contain authority for vaccinations against any other disease for which vaccines may be developed. There are hopes for a measles vaccine.

Kennedy renewed his request of three weeks ago for a 10-year program of federal matching grants for the building of 40 new medical and dental colleges and the granting of four-year scholarships to thousands of needy medical students.

But the No. 1 item on today's list was what Kennedy termed the "gap in our self-insurance, contributory social insurance system"—hospital, nursing home, clinical and visiting nurse care for all men and women of 65 or more who are eligible for Social Security benefits.

Its chances have not been rated high this session. But administration officials professed to see hope that increasing pressure from voters would bring action before Congress members go home to face the voters next fall.

Kennedy hit at both the favorite arguments of his opponents—that the plan would lead to "socialized medicine" and that private health plans can meet the need.

"Today, only about half of our aged population has any health insurance of any kind—and most of these have insufficient coverage," Kennedy said.

"This program of course would not interfere in any way with the freedom of choice of doctor, hospital or nurse. It would not specify in any way the kind of medical or health care or treatment to be provided," he added.

The increased Social Security costs, under Kennedy's plan, have been estimated at $1.06 billion in the first year after the start of the health benefits on Oct. 1, 1963.

This would be more than covered by an increase in the Social Security tax of 1/4 of 1 per cent each on employers and wage earners on Jan. 1, 1963. That tax is now 3 1/2 per cent but is scheduled to rise—irrespective of the health plan—to 3 3/4 per cent next January 1. The two boosts would bring the tax to 3 7/8 per cent, and it would be levied if Congress approves the health bill—on the first $5,200 of income instead of the first $4,800.

More Rainfall Expected To Swell River

CINCINNATI (AP) — With the prospect of more rain in the greater Cincinnati area tonight, the Weather Bureau has revised its predicted crest for the Ohio River.

A Weather Bureau spokesman said the tentative crest will be 50 to 51 feet some time Thursday. This would be one to two feet below flood stage.

The Ohio and its tributaries rose rapidly Monday night because of heavy rains upstream. The Ohio was expected to reach 45.5 feet at 7 a.m. today.

Meanwhile, the flood threat on the Great and Little Miami rivers and the Licking River in Northern Kentucky apparently passed Monday when all three crested and began to recede.

The Great Miami, at 18.2 feet, was almost two feet over the flood damage mark and forced the evacuation of 25 riverside cottages between Miamitown and Clevelands.

The Little Miami crested at 16.7 feet at Perintown and the Licking at 24 feet at Falmouth, Ky.—both well below flood stage.

Outline Presented On Urban Renewal

The general concept of Urban Renewal operations was explained to 12 Circleville officials and citizens yesterday by Stanley L. Heronemus, field representative for the Federal Urban Renewal Agency.

Heronemus, from the Urban Renewal Agency's Chicago office, outlined the UR program during a three-hour meeting. The session was conducted in City Hall.

The field representative emphasized the vast amount of pre-planning which usually precedes efforts to initiate an Urban Renewal program in various localities. It was pointed out that many of the steps are merely progressive measures communities would take regardless of whether they were seeking federal backing.

The federal official noted that a community should be organized in a joint effort prior to and during all contemplated improvement stages. He asserted that proper legislation should be enacted in the way of zoning and building ordinances and that detailed planning is needed.

Hellzapoppin' Originator Dies at 65

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Harold (Chick) Johnson, 65, younger member of the daffy and durable comedy team of Olsen and Johnson, died at a Las Vegas hospital Monday night of a kidney disease.

His death ended a partnership that had produced noise and laughter for nearly a half century—in vaudeville, on the New York stage and in the movies.

Johnson and his wife Catherine came here about three weeks ago from their ranch at Carmel, N.Y., and were living in a trailer camp near the Las Vegas strip. Mrs. Johnson said they made the move to get away from the cold in the east.

Johnson hadn't worked with his longtime partner, John S. (Ole) Olsen, about 70, in about a year. Mrs. Johnson said she believed Olsen was in Switzerland, recuperating from injuries suffered in an auto accident a year ago.

Johnson was born in Chicago and was appearing there as a pianist in the World War I era when he met Olsen, then a student at Northwestern University.

They teamed up at a local vaudeville house just for laughs—and got plenty of them. They were an overnight success.

They went on the Pantages circuit, then the Keith circuit. Later they got together in such stage successes as "Hellzapoppin'" and "Laughing Room Only." Still later they found another vehicle for their boisterous humor—the movies.

Euclid Judge To Fight Blue Law Decision

CLEVELAND (AP) — Euclid Municipal Court Judge William F. Burns, whose order concerning enforcement of that suburb's Sunday closing ordinance has been set aside by the Court of Appeals, says he will hire his own attorney to fight the appeals court ruling.

Burns appeared before the 8th District Court of Appeals Monday and was denied his request to have an attorney appointed by the court.

The court "said there was nothing in the law that would give them that authority," Judge Burns said in a statement Monday night. "Therefore I am left with the choice to drop this matter or to engage my own attorney. I have elected to fight this at my own expense because I am right, and I intend to fight this right to the top court of the land."

The judge had ordered Euclid police to suspend enforcement of the closing ordinance against Stevenson's Delicatessen pending the owner's trial on earlier charges.

That order was set aside temporarily by the appeals court at the request of Euclid Law Director John F. Ray Jr. and Police Prosecutor Robert L. Steele. Burns now is defending his stand against an order making the appeals court injunction permanent.

Liquor Aide's Firing Detailed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Liquor Director George R. Dick, who last week said he fired his assistant, Lee H. Shapiro, in the "best interests of the state of Ohio," got down to the particulars Monday.

Dick said one reason Shapiro was fired was the Cincinnati's purchase of liquor which had previously been delisted because of small sales. The brand was ordered removed from the shelves last October, Dick said. The inventory on hand was sold at reduced prices. Shapiro allegedly ordered 346 more cases.

Dick said another factor was Shapiro's attempt to gain a promotion for Willard Howard, Cincinnati liquor store manager under investigation for reportedly managing a now-closed night club. Dick said the promotion request came through Feb. 6 even though an audit of the store's finances had been ordered.

Unions Chide Labor Aide

BAL MARBOUR, Fla. (AP)—The AFL-CIO midwinter meeting has adjourned on a note of disagreement with Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg.

Union President George Meany told a news conference at the end of the week long session that Goldberg's stand "seems to be that the federal government has the right to say what each side shall do" in collective bargaining activities.

Meany referred to a Chicago speech in which he said Goldberg advocated increasing the federal government's intervention role in labor disputes.

"The government's role should be confined to conciliation and mediation," Meany declared.

Kiwanis Club Hears Facts On Scioto Conservancy Plan

Members of the Circleville Kiwanis Club heard a factual description of the functioning of the Scioto Conservancy District during a regular meeting at the Mecca Restaurant last night.

Presenting the interesting address was Richard Midden, secretary-treasurer for the recently formed Conservancy District. His talk was entitled "A New Valley."

Midden explained the aims of the Conservancy District and the steps that have been taken to develop the Scioto River Basin.

He listed three goals of the "New Valley" as: 1. attract new industry to the basin on a flood-free basis; 2. provide recreational facilities for an ever increasing population; 3. assure farmers of the district crops free from the danger of rampaging flood waters.

THE SPEAKER explained the structure of the Conservancy District and the reasons why it was organized. He listed governing bodies as the Board of Directors, the Board of Appraisers and the Conservancy Court.

The Conservancy Court consists of the common pleas court judges of the counties making up the district. Included in the Scioto District are Pickaway, Franklin, Ross, Pike and Scioto Counties.

Midden's talk included a rundown on how the three governing bodies act as a balance in bringing the eventual goals of the district into being. He said an official plan, to be completed by fall through the joint efforts of the Board of Directors and the Board of Appraisers, will be submitted to the Conservancy Court for study.

According to the conservancy structure the directors form the plan to solve the problems at hand and the appraisers determine the benefits to be derived.

Midden explained that the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers has completed a comprehensive study of the Scioto River Basin with a favorable outlook for contemplated reservoirs in Pickaway, Franklin and Ross Counties.

A present effort has been devoted to obtaining pre-construction appropriations from the U. S. Congress. However, Midden said, it is possible the Scioto projects can be completed under district financing.

MIDDEN'S talk here was arranged by John H. Dunlap Jr., Route 1, Williamsport, a member of the three-man Conservancy District Board of Directors.

Two Tourny Games Played At Kingston

The Chillicothe Merchants overwhelmed the Kingston Blacks, 110-41, in the first round of the Kingston Independent Basketball Tournament last night. Marathon Distributors led all the way in defeating the Kingston Reds 63-51.

In the high scoring tilt between Chillicothe and the Blacks, the Merchants experienced little difficulty. Herbst sizeled the nets for 31 points, Dearth scored 24, Neff dropped in 22 and Hall hit 19 to top the scoring for the winners.

Pontius paced the losers with 15.

Marathon displayed a balanced offense in their win over the Kingston Red. Four players hit for double figures — Davidson 16, Harrison 14, Dearth 13, Hinton 11 — to win for the Distributors.

CARMEAN paced the losers' attack with 24 points on ten field goals and four charity tosses.

The next scheduled games in the tourny will be tonight, Commercial Point tangles with Kingston Green at 7 p. m., Scioto Elks meet Chillicothe Window Cleaners in the second tilt and Kingston Gold plays Yellowbud in the finale.
